A Strange Merger
Leprosy Conquered
Eat Vitamin D
He Was Right and Is Dead

—By Arthur Brisbane—

WE LIVE in an era of mergers.

A strange and commercial intelligent merger, according to Associated Press, is organized by Mr. "Scarface" Al Capone. Using the language of big business, he says to gang world rum-runners, racketeers, and beer men of Chicago:

"Why kill each other, wasting opportunities of profit, when we might unite and prosper in safety."

The Associated Press, getting its information from the Chicago Herald-Examiner, says the "gang amalgamation" will bring under one leadership the most important gangsters of Chicago.

Hitches occur in important mergers, and one hitch disturbs the gang merger serenity. Joe Blue, "pickpocket, gunman, mail robber and machine gun expert," objects to gangster harmony. Today, he knows better if he knows anything. Yesterday he was shot to death.

Dr. Dostal, bacteriologist of Vienna, isolates leprosy germs and produces an effective serum.

Once that would have comforted millions of lepers and those living in fear of leprosy. It means little today.

Leprosy is one of the many "filth" diseases, dying out as civilization and soap distribution progresses. Cleaning up a stagnant pond will free a neighborhood of malaria.

Cleaning up the world's filth spots would free the earth of many diseases.

If nations that recently spent hundreds of billions, killing each other, would spend a few billions to rid the earth of mosquitos, flies, rats and mice, the worst diseases would vanish.

Dr. Price, scientist, of Cleveland, says "vitamin D" prevents diseases called "degenerative," such as cancer, heart disease, influenza and pneumonia.

Dairy farmers will be glad to hear that Dr. Price recommends spring butter, from the milk of cows grazing in sunshine. "This vitamin D he calls the "sunlight vitamin." Cows get the vitamin, stored up by the sun, in spring and return it in their milk.

It was the business of Edward D. Peterson, colored, to audit the accounts of colored Baptist churches. He reported irregularities, and said, "Some one is hired to kill me."

He was right. Yesterday he was found in the river, near Scottsburg, Indiana, clinging to the branch of a tree. He had six bullets in his body. His hands and feet were tied, two heavily weighted valises were fastened to his neck. He died without telling who had "taken him for a ride and put him on the spot."

Sixty years old, his thick gray hair cropped, to let the electric current, when his turn came, easily, through the death cap, Henry Collin Campbell, called the "torch murderer," was writing the last eight lines of his autobiography in the New Jersey state prison last night, waiting to be executed.

It is customary to execute murderers on Friday, but respect for Good Friday caused the killing to be advanced 24 hours.

Our civilization decides not to kill a murderer on Good Friday, but cannot abandon the killing habit entirely. We are only 12,000 years from the Stone Age.

Britain's House of Commons interests itself in things that would be ignored in Washington. One government nearly fell because a respectable servant girl had been arrested, wrongfully accused of street walking.

Two days ago the House discussed the cruelty of boiling lobsters alive. Mr. Freeman, Labor member from Wales, demanded abolition of lobster boiling in the House of Commons.

Nothing was said about the treatment of diplomatic lobsters sent to the naval conference to compete with British, French and Italian statesmen.

That also is cruelty.

EXPERTS PICK MILES TO WIN RACE

500,000 Expected to Witness Great Marathon; Victor in '29 in Fine Trim

The biggest crowd that has ever witnessed the Marathon grind is looked for by the police of the towns through which the runners will pass. It is estimated that close to 500,000 people will line the course.

Most of the experts look for Johnny Miles to chalk up his third victory on the morrow. Last year he set a new record for the distance of 26 miles and 385 yards, adopted in 1925, by covering the course in 2 hours, 33 minutes, 8 4-5 seconds.

The race, as usual, will start in front of Lucky Rock Manor, Hopkinton, at noon, and end in front of the B. A. A. clubhouse, Exeter st., shortly after 2:30 p. m.

The runners will follow the regular course, which will take them through Ashland, South Framingham, Natick, Wellesley and Newton, and past Lake st. and down Beacon st. to the finish.

The entry list numbers 215, and includes such outstanding long-distance runners as Johnny Miles, winner of the event last year and in 1926; Clarence De Mar, six-time winner of the race; Smiling Jimmy Henigan, who has finished among the leaders on several occasions; Karl Koski, great Finnish plodder from New York; Bill Kennedy, winner of the 1917 race, and Whitey

Bad Weather Keeps Sox-Braves Idle

Rain today kept both the Red Sox and Braves idle. The New York Yankees were due to open a three-game series with the Sox at the Fens this afternoon, but the early morning showers forced a postponement of the battle.

The Braves, who haven't played since Tuesday, were rained out in Brooklyn where they were billed to open a four-game series with the Dodgers. Tomorrow the Sox and Yanks will play two games at Braves Field, weather permitting. The first game will start at 10:30 a. m. and the second at 3:30 p. m.

Fair and Warm on Holiday

Fair skies and warmer temperatures will be given Boston over the Patriots' Day-Easter Sunday double holiday, George A. Loveland, weather man, announced today.

The showers that have sprinkled the Hub for two days will shower their last tonight, and for part of tomorrow the sky will be overcast, clearing toward afternoon.

Easter Sunday, from present indications, will be flawless and perfectly suited to new finery.

The official forecast: Partly cloudy and slightly warmer tonight. Saturday fair and warmer. Moderate easterly winds, shifting to southwest on Saturday.

JILTED YALE MAN ENDS LIFE

New York, April 18 (AP)—A four-page letter from a young woman breaking an engagement to marry was believed by the police to have been the cause of the suicide of John Douglas, 24-year-old Yale graduate and son of Dr. John Rindlaub, pioneer physician of Fargo, N. D.

His body was found by a maid hanging from a length of electric wire suspended from a steam pipe on the ceiling of his room at the West Side Y. M. C. A. in W. 63d st.

Earthquakes Rock Greece; Many Hurt

Athens, Greece, April 18 (AP)—Severe earthquake shocks which rocked the Peloponnesus during the night did extensive damage in several small towns. Athens and the Piraeus were shaken badly and there was great alarm among crowds of Holy Thursday worshippers in the churches.

Several persons were injured, one seriously, in the collapse of a church tower at Isthmia and a number were hurt at Corinth through falling of several houses.

HOOVER DOUBTS DRY LAW, SAYS LOBBY LETTER

Slayton, Anti-Leader, Declares President Is 'Abused'; Curran Sees Victory

Washington, April 18 (AP)—An expression of belief by W. H. Stayton, chairman of the board of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, that President Hoover "is beginning to doubt whether prohibition can be enforced," was received today by the Senate lobby committee.

The opinion was contained in a letter written last February by Stayton to Charles S. Wood of Philadelphia, a vice-president of the association. It said:

"My own feeling is, as I talk to senators, members of Congress and public officials here, that Mr. Hoover is beginning to doubt whether prohibition can be enforced."

It added:

"Mr. Hoover wants to take plenty of time to consider it, but he is being abused a little too much."

The Stayton letter was introduced into the voluminous lobby committee record while Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, was testifying for the third day. Curran had said a while before that the "tide is turning" in Congress against prohibition.

Curran predicted that the Sheppard bill to make the purchaser of liquor equally guilty with the seller and the Wickersham proposal to "abolish trial by jury in contravention of the bill of rights," would not be passed by the present Congress.

Two years ago, he added, the

FULLER CHARGE 'ABSURD,' SAYS C. H. INNES

Ex-Governor Out of the Running for the U. S. Senate, G. O. P. Leader Believes

Assailing former Gov. Alvan T. Fuller, who, he predicts, will not be a candidate for United States senator, Charles H. Innes, Republican party leader of Suffolk county, today denied any knowledge of the Garrett case.

Innes broke a long silence to reply to Fuller's suggestion that "his bank accounts be examined and his affiliation with Boston taxicab companies be investigated."

Regarding personal controversies with which "the Republican party is disgusted," Innes recalled that he had volunteered as witness at the Garrett hearings, and he denied Fuller's accusation that former Dist. Atty. Thomas C. O'Brien was his (Innes') candidate for mayor of Boston or is his candidate for senator.

WRITES TWO LETTERS

Innes' attack upon the former governor . . . whose "malicious and untrue statements . . . directed . . . against men . . . in his own party whom he might think not favorable to all of his plans," was contained in two letters, one sent to the Boston Evening American, one to Atty.-Gen. Warner.

To the Boston American, Innes wrote:

"May I ask you to publish the enclosed letter which I have forwarded to Mr. Warner? I should have replied before but former Gov. Fuller has said for the last three days that he was to give out a statement that would be 'red hot' and 'full of fireworks.'

"I have, therefore, waited to see if he referred to me before saying anything about his prior statement. Moreover, I did not wish to make a second reply because I can believe that the public are interested in the

Brighton Woman Writer Held on Alien Charge

Mrs. Marion Gladys Goddette of Brighton is under arrest at the Immigration Station, East Boston charged with being in this country illegally.

Mrs. Goddette, a writer and book reviewer, who has been living in Sutherland rd., Brighton, is held pending a hearing April 28.

Immigration authorities and Asst. U. S. Atty. John W. Schenck say her maiden name was Mary Gladys Walsh, and that she was born in New Brunswick in 1897. They further charge that she is now using the birth certificate of another person.

Mrs. Goddette contends that her maiden name was Mary D'Arcy and that she was born in 1897 in Gayhead st., Roxbury. She says she has no memory of her parents, and admits she used the name of Walsh because she had an uncle of that name who took care of her as a child. She says she was brought up and educated in a Boston convent.

Immigration officials have a marriage license issued in Boston City Hall about 1926 to Mary Gladys Walsh, whose birthplace was given as St. John, N. B., in 1897, and William Warren Goddette. Suffolk county records show Mrs. Goddette was granted a divorce in 1926.

VIOLATIONS OF FEDERAL LAW ARE FOUND

Warner or U. S. Attorney to Start Action Before Grand Jury

Either a state grand jury or a federal grand jury, and perhaps both, will positively receive the Garrett case, Asst. U. S. Atty. Hubert C. Thompson announced this afternoon. He warns that violations of federal law have been revealed. We will confer with the state authorities and find out if Atty.-Gen. Warner will handle this matter in the state courts or if he prefers us to handle it in the federal courts."

Testimony in the Garrett case will be placed before the House judiciary committee of Congress when that body reopens on Wednesday, at Washington, its hearings on the prohibition law.

Congressman F. H. La Guardia, of New York, will present it to refute the claim of Massachusetts women dry leaders, made when he appeared in central Massachusetts cities in Boston are greatly improved under prohibition.

The whole unsavory development came today while Atty.-Gen. Warner personally met the Legislature his findings in the Garrett investigation, destined to result in a shaking and reorganization of the police department from top to bottom.

Congressman LaGuardia, the anti-prohibition "wasp" at Washington, sent a telegram to the attorney-general asking him to appear before the judiciary committee in person and confirm his inquiry into Chief H. Garrett's activities and pensioning.

Warner said he would be unable to go, but sent word to LaGuardia a transcript of the Garrett testimony for presentation before the committee if he wishes.

SEEKS EVIDENCE

As LaGuardia has been casting about for additional ammunition in his controversy with Mrs. Henry F. Peabody and Mrs. William Tilden, Massachusetts drys who told the judiciary committee that a strict enforcement of the prohibition amendment was necessary, there is small likelihood but what he will seize upon the opportunity offered.

He is due to discuss the Garrett case at length a week from Sunday at Symphony Hall when he speaks on "The Failure of Prohibition and the Breakdown of Enforcement," an appearance sponsored by the Liberal Civic League, Inc.

County and federal grand jury action and a more drastic reorganization of the police force in an effort to rid Boston of organized liquor, vice and dope traffic were in the making today, as Warner began the draft of his findings.

The announcement of Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson's resignation, voluntary or forced, awaits only the Attorney-General's report.

Then the "new broom" will sweep the department clean of all those involved in suspicion of graft and inefficiency, while Warner goes before a Grand Jury for indictments in Suffolk or Norfolk county and seeks a change of venue for trial, probably in Plymouth.

The resignation or transfer to other duty of all officers and patrolmen of the rice squad, numbering 20 in the liquor and narcotic units, appears a certainty.

PATTERSON TO STAY

Capt. George V. Patterson, squad commander, denied today that he would resign or retire June 1, or that he had told anybody he would do so. His negligence confessed while on the witness stand at the investigation of Oliver E. Garrett's activities and pensioning are destined to result in his transfer if he elects to remain in the department.

Lieut. Daniel H. Hines, second in command, referred to himself today as "an old police officer who will shortly pass out of the picture" in a statement defending the source of his $74,000 fortune.

There are three sergeants in the vice squad. Sergt. Robert Caverly, heading the narcotic unit, is under suspension for alleged disobedience and his transfer appears to be foreordained regardless of the outcome of the hearing on the charge preferred Saturday.

Sergt. William A. McKenzie, heading a raiding unit, is Hines's former chauffeur and the man embroiled with Garrett in the altercation over Cane three months ago."

William Cripps is the sergeant heading the third unit.

ALL SUFFER

In addition to the five officers there are 15 men rated as patrolmen. Many of them served with Garrett. Some were shown to have visited his farm. Even those whose names were never mentioned during the probe just ended must suffer because of the general suspicion attaching to the squad in which Garrett was the "fair haired boy" during the years the Garrett family fortune reached a grand total of $122,000.

Many changes will be made in the headquarters personnel and several division commanders will be shifted. Numerous other retirements and resignations are expected under new leadership, but there will be an unprecedented "scrambling" of lieutenants and sergeants in order to break up existing cliques.

In the speculation over the identity of the new police commissioner, the name of Supt. Michael H. Crowley was prominently mentioned today.

ONE OBJECTION

The chief objection to his candidacy would be his friendship for Commissioner Wilson. But he would be a "new broom" in so far as the power to appoint, transfer and dismiss members of the department is concerned for that power has never been invested in him.

There appears to be little that Warner will call a grand jury to hear not only the evidence brought out at the hearings but considerable more that he is holding in reserve for criminal action. And in this connection it was learned today that his investigators still are at work joining "loose ends" of the case upon which he will seek indictments.

While federal grand jury action is also probable, U. S. Atty. Frederick H. Tarr indicated he would make no move until Warner has completed his report and made his own move for state indictments.

WARNER STARTS REPORT

With half a million words of testimony before him, Atty.-Gen. Warner is at work on the report he is to make to the Legislature by May 1.

Although the attorney-general has two full weeks in which to make his report, in compliance with the legislative resolve, he is expected to anticipate the final date by several days.

He said: "I am drawing up the report myself because it is my job."

Representative Henry L. Shattuck called upon him to congratulate him upon the manner in which the inquiry was conducted. Shattuck was one of the House leaders who forced the probe.

Damon E. Hall, special prosecutor for the investigation, announced today that his work was "all through." He appeared at the State House for a brief visit with the attorney-general and said he was going to Williamstown with his wife to remain until Wednesday.

Warner said he noticed that Lieut. Hines had made a statement to the newspapers.

"Why didn't he come up and testify under oath?" he asked.

Capt. Patterson's statement was: "I have no intention of resigning and have never given any thought to it or spoken any word about it. When I do intend to resign I'll give the newspapers plenty of notice."

The attorney-general's report is expected to be unsparing in its criticism of Commissioner Wilson's administration of the police department.

While Special Asst. Atty.-Gen. Hall took special pains to read into the record that an examination of the commissioner's finances showed no indication of graft taking, Wilson's admissions that charges of improper conduct against Garrett, Patterson and Lieut. Hines were referred to this triumvirate for report is expected to be a shining target for Warner's criticism.

Since he completed his three and a half days of testimony at the attorney-general's hearing 10 days ago, Commissioner Wilson has been confined to his home, visiting police headquarters but once in that time.

COST STATE $50,000

The public hearings in the Garrett investigation took up 17 days. During that time the official stenographer, Joseph P. Mellyn, recorded 419,000 words of testimony. The cost of the investigation to the State was approximately $50,000.

Denying that he had been offered or accepted a bribe during his 35 years of police service, Lieut. Hines issued a statement in which he criticized the attorney-general for "spreading to the world" part of his business affairs and not all.

He pointed out that he had made no public statement before prohibition than he has since.

WIFE OF CANDY MAN FIGHTS DIVORCEE

Charges Woman Has Kept Husband a Prisoner in Her Apartment

Media, Pa., April 18 (AP)—Miss Amelia Phillips, a blonde divorcee who is accused of keeping Aaron Unger, 48-year-old New York candy manufacturer, a "prisoner" in her apartment at Lansdowne, near here, says she loves Unger, he loves her and she intends to take care of him as long as she lives.

She so asserted yesterday in habeas corpus proceedings brought by Unger's wife and brother, Elias Unger, also of New York, who charge Miss Phillips is holding Unger against his will by "duress and coercion." Mrs. Unger and her brother-in-law also allege Miss Phillips obtained control of Unger's candy business by "forcing him against his will to sign over to her a power of attorney." They asked a receiver be appointed to conserve Unger's fortune, estimated between $200,000 and $500,000.

After Miss Phillips, who is 30, had testified that Unger was seriously ill from high blood pressure, the case was continued until May 1. Unger's daughter, Blanche, 22, and his son, Bernard, 19, a Harvard sophomore, attended the proceedings.

MISSING COAST GUARD HUNTED BY HIS MATES

Rum-Chaser Vanishes on Way to Sell Car; Missing Three Days

Gloucester, April 18—Believing that her husband has met with foul play, Mrs. Clara Conklin of 396 Western ave., this city, today appealed to the local, Boston and state police to find him, if possible.

The missing man is Thomas J. Conklin, 40, for the past four years attached to Base 7 of the Coast Guard here as chief machinists mate.

Conklin, who has been on sick leave from the base, following an operation for car trouble at the Chelsea Naval Hospital, left his home here, Tuesday, in his automobile for Ipswich, where he was planning to sell the car. He failed to return to Gloucester that night. Believing that he returned to the Chelsea Naval Hospital, his wife communicated with that institution, but no word had been heard from him there. She reported the matter to the Coast Guard officials. Today Mrs. Conklin enlisted police aid. She was informed by Night Officer Frank Dondero of the Ipswich police department that Thomas Bagley, another Coast Guard officer, had reported Conklin missing to the Ipswich department. No trace of his machine has been found. A second automobile owned by him is still in the garage at Gloucester.

When he left home Conklin wore his uniform. He is five feet, ten inches tall and weighs 209 pounds.

sonal controversies, and I am certain that the Republican party is disgusted with continued controversy among those who are active in its affairs.

"It is apparent that former Governor Fuller is to pursue the same policy that has characterized him in the past; i. e., making an indefinite statement which conveys an indirect implication but which is not specific enough to justify any action being taken by the one whom he attempts to vilify.

TAXI CO. COUNSEL

"I am and for nearly 10 years have been general counsel for one of the taxicab companies in Boston. They operate 350 of the 2500 cabs licensed in Boston and employ 700 men. The company has been progressive, has reduced rates and has improved the taxicab situation in Boston. I say this without disparaging in any way any other company.

"I have nothing to conceal, to apologize for, or to explain in connection with my relations with this company.

"That Mr. O'Brien was my candidate for mayor and is my candidate for the United States Senate seems too absurd to require discussion or refutation. I have never supported any but a Republican candidate for national or state office.

"That I supported Governor Fuller in 1926 was certainly a very severe test of my party loyalty. He had already assailed Congressman Roberts, Atty.-Gen. Warner and Senator Lodge, as well as the party principles, and has since added to the list of Republicans whom he has abused, Senator Gillett, former Governor Cox, former Senator Butler, Louis K. Liggett, former Mayor Nichols, and many others.

"So far as the Senate is concerned I do not believe he will be a candidate. His frequent and almost continuous vacations, his intensity over little matters, his bitter and intemperate attacks on the character of others, his inability to avoid a tempest when crossed in his plans, suggest the reason."

LETTER TO WARNER

Innes' enclosed letter to Atty.-Gen. Warner follows:

"An article in the newspapers, purporting to come from ex-Governor Fuller and which was given wide publicity suggested that I should be called as a witness in the Garrett case.

"The following day I called you and said that I would be very glad to appear without summons if you desired my presence.

"While in regard to me Mr. Fuller for truthful and exact statement is not such as to require my answer, the honorable position which he formerly held might suggest a reply, especially for those not familiar with the malicious and untrue statements he has made in the past directed generally against men who are prominent in his own party, and whom he might think not favorable to all of his plans.

"My name has never been mentioned in connection with this investigation, either publicly or privately. I should like to repeat to you, because I intend to make this letter public, that I have no knowledge upon any phase of the Garrett investigation.

"I do not know Officer Garrett nor any of the men under him. I have never had any dealings or communications, direct or indirect, with them or with any of the private individuals said to be implicated. In fact, as to most of them, I do not even know their names, and so far as I know have never met them.

RECALLS GAS CASE

"Former Governor Fuller says he knows a lot about this matter. He also knew something about the gas rate case, but no one could ever get him out of the newspapers and on the witness stand.

"I can understand and appreciate the hesitation and delicacy you might have in summoning a former governor of the Commonwealth, but I should assume that he would wish to appear voluntarily if he had any information and could be of public service.

"I shall be out of town over the holiday but will be back Monday."

Atty. Gen. Warner was interviewed by the Boston American regarding the Innes letters. He said:

"Mr. Innes told me he would like to come up and discuss the statement made by former Governor Fuller regarding his alleged connection with taxicabs.

"I told him I was not investigating taxicabs, but if he had anything to say about the Garrett case I would be glad to hear him.

"Mr. Innes said he knew nothing about the Garrett case, and I then said that under the present conditions I did not know how he could be of any assistance."

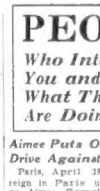
Aimee Puts Off Paris Drive Against Satan

Paris, April 18—The devil can reign in Paris until July, so far as Aimee Semple McPherson is concerned. Though she once declared this city to be the abode of Satan and announced her intentions of driving him out, her forces apparently are not yet ready for an offensive. She passed through the city on her way to Palestine without stopping.

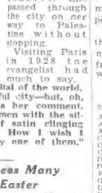


Aimee Semple McPherson

Visiting Paris in 1928 the evangelist had much to say. "Paris, the capital of the world, the most beautiful city—but, oh, how sinful," was her comment. "I look at the women with the silken garments of satin clinging to their bodies. How I wish I might save every one of them," she declared.

King Boris Frees Many Prisoners for Easter

Sofia, Bulgaria, April 18—King Boris is a staunch believer in practicing peace and goodwill toward men by deeds as well as fine words. This week, to carry out the spirit of the Easter season, the king has issued orders which will give freedom to more than 100 civil and military prisoners. In addition, more than 150 prisoners will have their sentences reduced.



King Boris

"The release of the government's charges will be but a small part of an enormous Easter festival, an event of great importance to Bulgarians.

Princess Elizabeth to Have Party on Easter

London, April 18—On Easter Monday, while millions of small children the world over are hunting chocolate Easter eggs, a children's party will be in progress at Windsor Castle. Princess Elizabeth, tiny daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, is planning to celebrate Easter with a party just like her American friends are doing on the other side of the ocean. She will have the added opportunity to celebrate her fourth birthday on the same day.

Among her guests the Princess will entertain the seven and five-year-old sons of Princess Mary and Earl of Harewood, George and Gerald.

LINERS CRASH OFF DELAWARE

Lewes, Del., April 18 (AP)—The steamers F. J. Luckenbach, Philadelphia, for New York, and Sartria, Buenos Aires via New York, for Philadelphia, were in collision off the Delaware Capes last night.

One member of the crew of the Luckenbach was injured and was brought to shore here. Both vessels were damaged, but proceeded to the Delaware Breakwater here. The collision was due to fog.

Slot Machine Writ Is Denied in N. H.

Concord, N. H., April 18 (AP)—Judge Morris of the U. S. District Court today denied a petition of the Eastern Mint Vending Co., New York, for an injunction to restrain city and county officials from interfering with its business. The petition had asked that Police Chief Healey of Manchester and Goodwin of Nashua, and Sullivan, solicitor of Hillsborough County, be restrained from seizing the company's vending machines.

Extra Guards for Rembrandt Exhibit

Detroit, April 18 (INS)—Every possible protection will be given the Rembrandt paintings, valued between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000 to be exhibited at the Detroit Institute of Arts from May 2 to May 31.

Extra guards will be added to insure safety of the valuable paintings. Rembrandts will be shipped here from different parts of the United States, from Toronto, Ont., and from Munich and Berlin, Germany.

VOTE TO REPEAL DRY LAW STILL LEADS POLL

Returns From All 48 States Show 28 Per Cent Favor Strict Enforcement

New York, April 18 (INS)—The vote for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment continues to lead, with over 41 per cent of the total of 3,175,972 ballots returned from the entire 48 states in the sixth week's returns of the Literary Digest's nation-wide poll on prohibition, as published in tomorrow's issue.

The grand total gives 915,681 votes for enforcement; 951,475 for modification, and 1,308,816 for repeal.

This shows over 28 per cent of the total vote for strict enforcement while practically 30 per cent favor modification to legalize light wines and beers.

The vote by states is as follows:

HUB CREW HELD IN RUM CASE

New York, April 18 (AP)—Six members of the crew of the auxiliary schooner Alamac were held by Treasury officials today after a cargo of liquor had been discovered in a false bottom of the boat.

The Alamac was seized by Coast Guardsmen last night in Long Island Sound, 15 miles off Bridgeport, Conn. Drilling through the concrete flooring of the schooner's bilge, they discovered a secret compartment containing liquor.

The crew gave their names as Joseph Wolfe, master, of Boston; John Pucetti, engineer, Boston; Leonard deGeos, seaman, Gloucester; Joseph de Leon, cook, Gloucester; James Landry, seaman, "Benmount", Mass., and Raymond Smith, seaman, Quincy.

SEEKS CURB ON JUDGE'S POWER

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Urging passage of his bill to restrict the power of a judge to cite a person for contempt and then try the case, Senator Vandenberg of Michigan today told the American Society of Newspaper Editors that a throttled press is a prophecy of democracy's disintegration.

The bill, now before the Senate judiciary committee, would give a person cited for contempt the right to have the case heard by another judge if the contempt arises from an attack upon the character of the conduct of the judge who brings the action.

Vandenberg, a former newspaperman, referred to the recent action against editors of the Cleveland press in which the decision of a judge who convicted them of contempt was set aside by a higher court.

The Michigan Senator said the press does not deserve license, but "it must have liberty."

BATTLE ON NAVAL PACT IS DUE TO START AT ONCE IN SENATE

HALE INSISTS ON EARLY ACTION

Hoover Is Expected to Submit Treaty Immediately It Is Received From London

Washington, April 18—The big fight over the London naval treaty is expected to begin at once following the demand of Senator Hale, chairman of the naval affairs committee, that the treaty be submitted first to his committee.

President Hoover, it is indicated, desires the pact to go before the foreign relations committee.

Senator Hale made his statement following a conference with the President which was attended by Senator Watson, Indiana, Republican leader of the Senate; Senator Borah, Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee, and acting Secretary of State Cotton.

No decision was reached at the conference as to what committee the treaty will be referred to when it is submitted. Borah said, however, that if the pact is referred to his committee he is in favor of final action in the Senate at this session. He does not wish to be placed in a position of blocking action.

Due to the desire of Republican leaders to put off an adjournment by June 1 in order to allow candidates for re-election to get into the campaign, there was a disposition among the political-minded to ask the President to hold the pact until next December.

Draft of Two Sections of Pact Given to Delegates

London, April 18 (AP)—A printed draft of the preamble and first two sections of the London naval treaty was delivered to the headquarters of the five power naval delegations today.

The preamble is not completed, containing only a formal list of participating countries and plenipotentiaries, but it was learned that the first article covers capital ships and aircraft carriers, with the second article covering rules and definitions.

Man and Woman Held in Robbery

Frank W. Amirault, Sherman st., Malden, and Marjorie E. Laing of the Strand Hotel, Boston, were arraigned in court today charged with an attempted robbery on the Swift Laundry in Norwood on the morning of April 14. According to the proprietor, he caught the pair in the laundry at 2 a. m.

Amirault's bond was placed at $5000 and $1000 on a statutory offence before Judge Clifford B. Sanborn of Dedham. Miss Laing's bond was $500 on a charge of larceny and $100 for statutory offence.

Stars in Bitter Lobby Drama Caught Off Guard in Fiery Grill

Remarkable photos made during the Senate's lobby investigation with a "candid camera," which "sees and depicts all," caught three of the actors in the drama off their guard—unposed. Above, Senator Black (D.) Alabama, pauses in his questioning of witnesses to light a stogie.

Here's the man who sees a "dry law revolt" in the making. He is Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and he is not asleep. He predicted repeal and told of a fund of $1,000,000 to be used this year in the fight.

You'll recognize him. He is Representative Tinkham of this State, caught as he gesticulates during testimony regarding what he termed the lobby of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Federal Council of Churches to control legislation. (International Newsreel photos.)

ASKS RETURN OF $50,000 POISON DEATH BAIL

Recaptured Fugitive in Killing of 100 Persons to File Plea

New York, April 18 (INS)—Release on bail was restrained after jumping $50,000 bail, Carmine Lacezzita, now serving an 18-year sentence on the charge of causing the deaths of more than 100 persons in Massachusetts and Connecticut in 1919 from wood alcohol, will appeal to the Brooklyn Supreme Court Monday for an order restoring the money, it was learned today.

Lacezzita was convicted in 1920 after testimony indicated that 97 deaths had occurred in Massachusetts from wood alcohol liquor and almost a score in Connecticut. Lacezzita was charged specifically with the death of Joseph Sania, Chicopee Falls, Mass.

The record shows that Lacezzita obtained a release after his conviction by posting 50 $1000 bills pending decision by the appellate division of the Supreme court in Brooklyn. A year later when the conviction was upheld he could not be found.

SAYS SHE WON'T SELL CHILD

Hollywood, Cal., April 18 (INS)—Declaring she had not "sold her baby," Lina Basquette, motion picture actress, was back in Hollywood today, after investigating the terms by which Mr. and Mrs. Harry Warner became the legal guardians of her three-year-old daughter, Lita Basquette Warner.

Although the actress said she has determined a guardianship was all that was granted to the Warners, she declared reports which reached her in the East caused her to suffer a nervous breakdown.

The child was an offspring of her marriage to the late Sam Warner. She added:

"I am still Lita's mother, and the Warners are her aunt and uncle."

Persons who have been informed she had "sold her baby" snubbed her since her return here, Miss Basquette complained.

Fliers to Go After Endurance Mark

Los Angeles, April 18 (AP)—Charles P. Rocheville, vice-president of the Emsco Aircraft Corporation, today announced plans for a non-refueling endurance flight next week in a new "flying wing" monoplane in an effort to better the German record of 65 hours 20 minutes.

Immediately following the flight, Rocheville said, the plane will be crated and shipped to Tokyo, Japan, from which place it will take off within a month on a non-stop flight to Seattle, Wash.

R. W. CHILD URGES UNSHACKLED U. S. IN D. A. R. ADDRESS

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN

Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, April 18—Richard Washburn Child, in an address in the continental congress, urged an "Unshackled America," free from foreign entanglements.

Child formerly was American ambassador to Italy and is an outstanding authority on international diplomacy.

His address was interpreted as an answer to the speech of President Hoover in the delegates' caucus Monday night urging American adherence to the League Court.

Richard W. Child Addresses D. A. R. Convention.

CONDEMNS FORMULAS

He condemned "the futile, decrepit and senile school of formulas and pools to prevent war," and declared: "America must keep herself free from the old political internationalism."

"It would be folly to join a world court if this were to handcuff our freedom for the future. The President has expressed his belief we will support, not only international law, but also a court for the settlement of international disputes. While there is a Hague there is no hurry.

"When we join a court let us be certain it is a court unhampered by the passion of any machinery of the old political internationalism."

ADJUNCT OF LEAGUE

The diplomat snatched the veil from the League Court and revealed it as an adjunct of the League of Nations. He declared:

"Today the court is not only a court; it is an attorney for the League of Nations. Root and the legalistic minds of other great men have assured us that, if we futilely protest against some advisory opinion, we can pack up and go home. Alas, I believe the majority millions of America, who wish to be America remain unshackled, know full well, out of their common-sense, that the cost of this legalistic exit, in terms of political clamor at home and abroad, might be too great for us to bear.

"An advisory opinion, given by the World Court to please the League of Nations, might become, as used by the League, a greater measure of unjust coercion, a greater burden upon a world peace, than is now conducted by a whole group of bankrupt or unwilling peoples."

PARITY A PRETENSE

The insufficiency and inadequacy of the London three-power pact were next brought out by former Ambassador Child. While he conceded a gain has been made in the general effort toward disarmament, he said:

"It is unintelligent not to recognize that parity with another naval power cannot be more than a pretense when a superior merchant marine, in the absence of all ships of war, can be converted into ships of war.

"This is a day when ships like the Bremen and the Europa are potentially unbeatable by those vessels which cannot catch them, and can be made more powerful than all craft they wish to catch."

Actual examples of the inability of the League of Nations to bring about an agreement once a state of war has been created, were related. He cited the Corfu incident when Mussolini defied the league and declared:

"There is no power on earth able always to gather the facts and convince all concerned that any specific act of war is aggressive or defensive.

NEEDS NO APOLOGISTS

"An unshackled America needs no apology. If she is too rich to be loved, the trouble is not with her heart, but with the hearts of those who might love her. While she holds close to her heart and head her responsibilities and seeks humble righteousness, we need none of our apologists.

"We sought our freedom and gained it.

"We built our new creative civilization and we will share its opportunity of leadership toward a new economic co-operative international.

"To ourselves, and to all the world, we owe the duty to keep out of the bandcuffs of yesterdays, and to dedicate that freedom to the new clasps of mankind.

"There is no war where there is peace."

SERVANT GIRL SUES WILLOCK

New York, April 18 (AP)—An heir to a fortune who married his mother's chambermaid, has been named defendant in a $250,000 breach of promise suit by another servant girl.

William Willock, Jr., social registerite, was married last November to Adelaide Ingebretsen, who had been employed at the Willock Roswell, L. I., home. Although the marriage at first was frowned on by the parents of the wealthy bridegroom, the bride later was accepted by the family.

The suit filed against Willock yesterday by Catherine McCormack, 20, who charges that she possesses more than 100 ardent letters, many containing promises of marriage. She was a servant at the Roswell estate two years ago.

Rockland, April 18—Mrs. Almira L. Burrell, who would have been 94 on May 4, died today of pneumonia at her home in Hingham.

On April 4 Mrs. Burrell and her husband, Darius F. Burrell, celebrated the 75th anniversary of their marriage.

One-Armed Coroner Finally Draws a One-Armed Jury

Jacksonville, Ill., April 18 (AP)—Coroner C. S. Young's ambition to empanel a jury of one-armed men has at last been crowned with success.

Ever since he lost an arm several years ago the coroner has been trying to get together a jury of men similarly crippled. Yesterday in the case of a woman accidentally burned to death, he rounded up a justice of the peace, a contractor, a constable and three others, all one-armed.

lease bill to increase penalties for prohibition violations "passed with a whoop."

Senator Blaine (Republican, Wisconsin, the only wet on the committee, asked Curran if his organization had taken any action on the prohibition bills now before Congress.

"We haven't lifted a finger," the witness replied.

The letter by Stayton said Chairman Graham of the House judiciary committee, which has been holding prohibition hearings, had urged him to ask W. W. Atterbury, Republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania, an anti, to testify before the committee.

"I believe," the letter added, "that if Mr. Atterbury should take the stand it would cause a great many people to be more generous as to Mr. Hoover's attitude.

HOOVER AS EXAMPLE

"I think there are thousands of people—and especially prominent people—who would at once say that if Gen. Atterbury, with his strong convictions on this subject, is willing to wait for Mr. Hoover's calm consideration, then the rest of us ought equally to be willing to wait—and I believe that a real service would thereby be done to the Republican party."

Senator Robinson (Rep.) of Indiana placed in the record a letter sent by John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee and a director of the association, last December to 194 persons who contributed to the Democratic campaign fund. It brought 12 contributions totaling $575, the records showed. The letter said in part:

"I am writing under the assumption that with many others of our citizens, you are in favor of a change in the prohibition laws and in sympathy with the sound, progressive, energetic and highly successful measure that our association is taking to remove them.

"From my observation of conditions throughout the country it is my opinion, and probably yours, that there exists a clear majority of voters opposed to the cruel and absurd laws on the statute books."

MONEY IN BAY STATE.

"Final success in our great enterprise can be achieved when it is possible to unite all our members and those of our citizens who indorse our view of prohibition in elections or other political contests untrammelled by any other issues.

"Failure to enforce prohibition during the last ten years—which advice was inevitable from the beginning—has been accompanied by an orgy of graft, corruption and lawlessness such as our nation has never seen before. In my opinion this can only be ended by an adequate expression of the will of the people impressed upon Congress by voters."

A similar letter was sent by Lamot Dupont to 246 Republican campaign contributors and it brought five contributions totalling $2125.

Senator Robinson read from records of the association that $17,015 had been spent in Massachusetts recently by the Liberal Civic League. The records included $5000 for a meeting addressed by Governor Ritchie of Maryland.

D. A. R. EXCLUDE DRY QUESTION

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The Daughters of the American Revolution, today definitely excluded the prohibition question from its platform by reaffirming resolutions of 1913 and 1914 declaring it the policy of the society to avoid all controversial subjects of a religious and political nature.

Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, honorary president-general, who urged the members to support prohibition at the opening session Monday, arose and remarked:

"Nobody has lived up to that resolution to avoid controversial subjects. I would suggest that we live up to that resolution."

The congress adopted the resolution without further discussion, however.

The congress also adopted a resolution thanking President Hoover and Mrs. Hoover for their kindness in receiving the delegates at the White House. An expression of regret for the illness of Mrs. Hoover and of hope for her immediate recovery was included.

Worcester, April 18 (AP)—William R. Schofield, manufacturer, sculptor, poet, newspaperman, left an estate valued at $1,839,235, according to an inventory filed today. The personal property is appraised at $1,794,690 and real estate at $44,545.

Under the will several trusts are established. A large part of the estate is to be known as the Hoche-Scofield Foundation, in memory of the testator's mother and father; the income will in time go to the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Clark University, Worcester Art Museum, Worcester County Musical Association and Worcester City Hospital.

Easter Mountain Service on Air

The Boston Evening American, the Boston Sunday Advertiser and other Hearst newspapers throughout the United States, in co-operation with the National Broadcasting Company, have arranged to broadcast the great annual Easter sunrise outdoor service from the Pacific coast Sunday morning.

The broadcast, which runs from 8 a. m. to 9 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, will be heard in New England through WBZ and WBZA. Among other eastern stations carrying the service is WJZ, New York.

The service, together with music by the San Francisco Concert Orchestra and eminent soloists, will take place on the slope of Mt. Davidson, outside San Francisco.

Boston will be linked up with the nation-wide broadcast of the Easter Dawn Service from the top of Mount Davidson by the National Broadcasting Co., as a result of the activity of the Hearst papers. The impressive ceremony will be broadcast in New England by WBZ and WBZA starting at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. This picture shows part of the throng that crowded the mountain top at the services last Easter. (International Newsreel photo.)

TASTY EASTER SPECIALTIES

This week's lesson in the Martha Lee school of practical cookery centered around Easter specialties, starting with a Japanese crab meat canape, and going down through the menu from the traditional baked ham with pineapple rings, to tulip cakes, calla lilies and ice cream cups to add a final touch of gorgeousness.

Martha Lee first showed how a whole ham could be used to advantage—sawed in half, a two-inch center slice cut out to be used smothered en casserole, with brown sugar and spices, the butt end to be baked and the shank end to be boiled with new cabbage, carrots, turnips, onions and potatoes.

As an alternative for those who preferred it, fried chicken with cream gravy was suggested for the Easter menu.

The tulip cakes were truly lovely —an especially novel and delicious, as well as economical, foundation cake being baked in a one-inch layer, frosted with a simple confectioner's sugar, water and flavoring frosting, marked with a damp clean string into oblong pieces while the frosting was still soft, and then the tulip garden being planted on each piece with strips of angelica and candy cordial drops in various soft spring colors.

The calla lilies we have before described on this page and are a delicious form of sponge cake rolled in the shape of a calla lily and filled with whipped cream.

The ice cream cake is ordered from your dealer and consists of a combination of flavors in delicious ice cream, frozen in a solid cake and decorated with deliciously tinted whipped cream and "Easter Greetings." This truly is the ideal Easter Sunday dessert, and can be had in a choice of sizes, according according to the number of guests you expect.

Lesson sheet number 3, includes all these recipes and is available to members of the Martha Lee Women's Club who care to write in for it, giving their registered club number.

And here seems to be a good place to explain that we do not have a mailing list for these weekly lesson sheets. With a club which now numbers over 37000 New England home makers, you can see that it would not be practical to mail out a lesson sheet to every one each week. However, when you find described on this page a lesson that particularly appeals to you, we will be only too happy to send it to you without charge, if you will drop a post card request, giving your membership number.

Whipped Cream Coffee

Combine prepared Shredded Codfish with mashed potato and shape into small flat cakes. Roll in egg yolk and milk and then in fine crumbs. Arrange codfish cakes in greased utility dish and dot with butter.

Prepare bean scallop using a medium white sauce. Sprinkle grated cheese over top.

Fill buttered custard cups half full of a plain cake mixture. Remove cakes from the custard cups and pile diced sweetened orange on top. Garnish with whipped cream.

Bake Codfish, Scallop and Shortcake 20 minutes in a hot oven 450 F., or until the codfish cakes are brown and the beans are tender.

Dead From Gas

Haverhill, April 18—An unidentified man, about 30, was found dead in a gas-filled room of a lodging house.

Glass Baking Dishes Save Time and Energy

Probably you've seen our collection of glass baking dishes in the Martha Lee Kitchen? We're terribly proud of them and also of the fact that they have been in constant use for four years.

Our chief love for these dishes is because they serve the double purpose of baking and serving, giving economy of storage space; they bake food more evenly than ordinary kitchen utensils; and there is less danger of scotching. Their transparency is convenient, too.

Cold desserts, such as custards, junkets, gelatines, etc, may be prepared in advance in the glass custard cups or ramekins and set in the refrigerator to chill. Then they may be placed on the serving table before the meal and remain almost ice cold until dessert time.

Using this glass oven ware for baking and serving, the homemaker has fewer dishes to wash—and that helps considerably, doesn't it? And I imagine that we are agreed that these glass dishes are easier to wash than other baking utensils.

Remember, though, that this transparent oven ware should not be exposed to non-uniform heating, such as the heat on the top of the stove, over an open flame or an electric grill. It is, however, ideal for oven cookery, table service and refrigerator storage. Wish you could have tasted the Smothered Ham that we did in our brand new oval transparent oven ware casserole! Proper Preparation of Grapefruit Easy

The mangling that a grapefruit all too often gets en route between fruit stall and dining table is truly a sin against this noble vegetable, which has rightly been called our national eye-opener. Because so many people do not understand how to prepare this fruit so that it may be easily eaten and its fine flavor fully preserved and enjoyed, I'm giving you today the following suggestions which should lead to its greater enjoyment.

1. If the grapefruit is desired cold it should be chilled whole in the refrigerator. Keep it whole in the refrigerator over night. If it is first halved and then kept in the refrigerator to chill, much of its fine flavor and aroma are lost. Never cover the edible part of the grapefruit with ice when serving it.

2. Do not halve the fruit until immediately before it is ready to be eaten.

3. Scoop out seeds without cutting into the membranes, which separate each section of fruit, or into the white, pulpy substance at the center.

4. Never core a grapefruit. This not only spoils its appearance, but also its flavor.

5. Do not run a sharp knife between the meat and the outside rind. Loosen the meat in each segment without cutting into the white substance or the membrane, just enough so that it may easily be scooped out with a spoon. After a properly prepared grapefruit is properly eaten a complete skeleton of the halved fruit will remain.

In the preparing of grapefruit the important thing to bear in mind is that the white pithy substance in the rind and in the core, as well as the thin membranes which surround each segment, secrete bitter substances which are released excessively when the fruit is cut in many places. When a grapefruit is mangled or excessively cut up, it is inevitable that the meat will become tinged with these bitter juices. Furthermore, pieces of the bitter pith and membrane adhere to the meat and are taken into the mouth.

These rules are not offered to make a polite art of grapefruit eating but rather to increase the palatability of the fruit. Those who have been accustomed to mangled grapefruit will find new pleasures in the taste of grapefruit if they will observe these simple instructions.

New Bus Service to Springfield Today

Boston and Worcester Street Railway announced the opening today of a new bus line to Springfield to furnish "over the road" service to Springfield and towns on the way. Running time will be three and one-half hours.

This time is possible because the buses on the westbound trip do not stop to discharge passengers until they reach Fiskdale Center on the other side of Worcester. Brief stops are also made at Brookfield Center, Palmer, and North Wilbraham. One stop to pick up passengers is made in Marlboro.

$30,000 Fire Loss at Stockbridge

Stockbridge, April 18—The Daniel Hanna mansion here was menaced when fire of undetermined origin swept through a big stock barn on the estate, destroying some valuable stock and causing a loss of $30,000.

Firemen from three towns battled to prevent the spread of the flames to the other buildings on the estate.

New Phone Office Will Open May 1

Quincy's second telephone exchange will be established about May 1, officials of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. have announced. The new exchange will be known as President, due to the fact that Quincy is the birthplace and burial place of John and John Quincy Adams.

GIRL UNAFRAID : : By Gladys Johnson

CHAPTER 37

MRS. KENT GLEASON sat in her boudoir vigorously wielding her buffer. But Cecile's attention was not on her already shining nails; her eyes were narrowed on her husband.

Ken spoke, his voice weary—the voice of one who has gone over the same argument many times.

"Please can't we talk this over without getting into a row over it, Cecile? It isn't that I'm trying to dictate to you—or that I want to spoil your pleasure in any way——"

"Oh, don't be so almighty sanctimonious about it!" interrupted the lady. "You know perfectly well you're raising an objection simply because you don't want to go!"

"No, that isn't so," he returned evenly. "I'll admit I don't like Coralie Gaines or that rowdy crowd she gathers around her. I don't like the way they drink—or the high stakes they play for——"

"I believe——" Cecile's smooth voice cut in, "that I settle my own bridge debts."

Ken reddened. There was a hint of temper in his voice. "That's another thing—how do you suppose I feel to have everyone know you write checks to settle your bridge debts for more than my earnings each month?"

Cecile's lips curled. "Can you afford to pay my card debts?"

The man's eyes narrowed. "I just said I couldn't."

"Then"—his wife's voice was icy, "until you can, don't you think you might permit me the spending of my own money?"

Ken's cheekbones were burning. "That isn't fair, Cecile, and you know it. Good Lord, you rub it in on every pretext that it's your income which keeps the house going! That lets us go out to parties and week-end trips which cost hundreds of dollars——"

Cecile's brows raised in an exaggerated semi-circle. "Perhaps you'll suggest how we could manage otherwise?"

Ken had begun to pace the room. Now he wheeled like a goaded animal.

"Yes—I can! Give up this expensive apartment! Get a small place I could afford to pay the rent on. Manage with one maid. Cut out some of our expensive friends!"

"I suppose—" she put in contemptuously, "you'd like me to live and dress like a shop girl. Shop girls appear to be your ideal."

From beneath her lashes she studied the result of this shot. Ken's mouth contracted. She saw the outline of his jawbone go white under the skin. But he crushed back the angry words before they formed. A scene—that was what she wanted. A scene—like the hundreds which had gone before. When she'd fling Ardeth's name at him. Not that! He couldn't stand that again.

He paced the room in silence.

A large room, this boudoir, and filled with the superficial glitter which naturally collected about any intimate background of Cecile.

Summer sunshine, slanting between orchid silk drapes, struck rainbow gleams from the cut-glass stoppers of the bottles on the vanity. An army of bottles and jars. They covered the top of the dressing table. They overflowed to a small glass-covered stand. A carved lacquered held a number and Ken knew that the green and lavender bathroom held as many more behind its wall cabinets.

Skin lotions, massage creams, foundation creams, cleansing creams. Toilet water, bath salts and perfumed oils. Jars of what appeared to be rosy mud which turned Cecile's complexion startling shades to match various gowns. Brilliantines and eye-shadow paste. Heavy Oriental perfume in an amber glass elephant. Flower perfume in a rose of pink brown glass.

Enough cosmetics, Ken found himself thinking, to stock a small drug store.

He hated this room with a vigorous, if secret, hatred. Too bright . . . too overdone . . . The triple-glassed vanity mirror . . . the affected night lamp—the taffeta cushions on the bed . . . .

That doll caught at his attention unpleasantly. Ugly, sprawling creature with its long, snaky legs . . . He hated the expression of coy lasciviousness painted on its silk face. Why did women fancy those grotesque creatures! Hair of yellow silk floss, parted in the center and drawn with mock demureness each side of the oval face. Damn! If the thing didn't look something like Cecile!

He tried to crush the disloyal thought as it rose but the comparison was so apt that he had the impulse to shout with nervous laughter.

He found himself slyly eyeing her.

Cecile had returned to her nail polishing. She was fresh from the hands of her maid, her brows plucked to a thin line and darkened with mascaro. Her lips outlined in hard orange. Her upper lids had been touched with mauve tinted salve so that they shone moistly in the morning light. She wore an elaborate suit of lounging pajamas of ivory satin trimmed with ecru lace—an ensemble Ken reflected grimly, which probably cost more than his whole month's income.

That brought the old grievance to his mind again. After their marriage, he had innocently imagined that he and Cecile would get along on the salary he earned in her father's firm. He was quickly abused of this. If Cecile had spent money before, she reveled in it now.

It was her money which furnished this elaborate apartment of eight rooms; which paid the rent and kept it running. The thought galled Ken. He was an outsider in all this glittering magnificence. It gave Cecile the upper hand. Made her defiant where her own wishes were crossed.

Wearily he took up the task he dreaded. Smiled his old winning smile.

"Aw, Cecile, please let's be sensible about this. You know why I don't want you to go to Coralie's house party at this particular time. Dancing all night. And the way they play cards—that hectic excitement isn't good for you right now. And riding horseback—especially that. You know what the doctor said—that for the next few months you'd have to be careful. . . ."

CASSIDY IS SAFE AT VERA CRUZ

Vera Cruz, April 18—Leonard B. Cassidy, of Peabody, Mass., kidnaped by Mexicans near El Hule, Oaxaca, Tuesday, feared during the 30 hours he was a captive that a fate more terrible than that of an unpaid ransom victim.

Cassidy who arrived here by railroad, said he believed his captors planned to kill him in revenge for labor difficulties they had had with him as manager of the Transcontinental Fruit Company.

He asked that one be sent for a priest so that he might confess before he died. The leader answered grimly that they were not going to kill him.

When they freed him they gave him a pistol for protection against wild beasts and told him to find his way back through the jungle. He soon ran into federals who were trailing the bandits.

JERUSALEM IS UNDER GUARD

Jerusalem, April 18 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency) — Machine guns have been placed in strategic positions on all the main streets of Jerusalem to prevent possible trouble growing out of the Christian and Mohammedan holidays.

Armed soldiers have been placed on guard in front of the former Russian compound, now the courthouse. A party of Jewish residents who wanted to drive to Amman, in Transjordania, to see the Nebi Musa—important feast in the Mohammedan religious calendar—were barred by the authorities, who said they could not guarantee their safety.

There are many pilgrims here for the Nebi Musa commemorations, which take place today, tomorrow and Sunday.

Killed by Blast

Winchendon, April 18—Burns received when kerosene she was pouring in a stove exploded proved fatal to Mrs. Ozine Goyette, 68, of Jackson ave.

DON'T SUFFER FROM CONSTIPATION
Prevent It This Pleasant, Healthful Way
Beware of the frequent headaches, the listless feeling, bad breath and sallow complexion.
If allowed to continue, constipation may get its grip on you and serious sickness can result.
The poisonous wastes in your system must be removed. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to do this—safely, completely. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—recurring cases, with every meal.
Doctors recommend Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Because it is ALL-BRAN it brings complete results. Far better than habit-forming drugs or pills that are often dangerous. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN not only prevents and relieves constipation pleasantly — it also supplies your blood with the iron it needs to keep a healthy color and a strong body.
Ready to eat with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Recipes are on the package for muffins and breads. Sold by all grocers. Served by hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

QUIZ 2 CHUMS OF SLAIN GIRL

Clarendon, Va., April 18—Commonwealth's Atty. William C. Gloth said early today that Olga Skinner and Mildred Sperry, roommates of Mary Baker Washington Navy Department employe found slain last Saturday, were found yesterday at St. Cattle, Va., and questioned.

Miss Skinner and Miss Sperry were not detained after answering questions, Gloth said.

It was stated they had left home in Oak Grove, where they roomed, with Miss Parker, only after her body was found Tuesday and remained in seclusion at St. Cattle.

JUDGE FACES RUM CHARGE

Selma, N. C., April 18 (AP)—Judge N. A. Sinclair of the North Carolina Superior Court, was under summons today to leave his judicial duties tomorrow and come here to answer charges of violating the federal prohibition laws.

Charges were brought against Judge Sinclair after a federal prohibition agent discovered a pint bottle of whiskey in his handbag. Federal Agent C. S. Coats found the liquor on March 20 when he stopped the jurist's auto and searched his luggage.

Students Start on Long Canoe Trip

Hanover, N. H., April 18 (INS)—Aided by the current of rivers backs, two Dartmouth students paddled on relays in an effort to down the Connecticut River in a 120-pound canoe by Saturday. Or a run of 36 miles, some of it through ice.

The students, David M. Lawrence of Williamsport, Pa., and C. L. Knight, of Hartford, Conn., broke the present record of 18 hours in paddling day and night.

Tariff Victory Protects Fishers

SAVE INDUSTRY FROM RIVALS IN CANADA

Boston fishing interests which compete with Canadian firms are rejoicing over the recent fish tariff victory won for New England, with $15,000,000 at the stake.

E. H. Cooley, secretary of the Massachusetts Fisheries Assn., which represents many thousand fishermen, has just returned from Washington, where he led the fight.

For the last 15 months the association has been protesting against a movement to lower the duty on Canadian fish. Because of the low price of Canadian labor, a reduced tariff might easily have meant the moving of the fish industry center to Canada.

In Boston alone, fishermen are paid more than $15,000,000 each year for their raw product. "This sum is multiplied into $50,000,000 and more by the time the various fish concerns have finally marketed their product.

STEAMSHIP NOTES

As predicted in the Gazette last week, the Merchants and Miners fleet is beginning to make regular use of Cape Cod Canal as a time saver. The steamer Grecian saved three hours on a trip from Norfolk.

Carrying more than 700 passengers, the Cunarder Tuscania, left New York at midnight last night for Havana. This is said to be the largest number ever to sail for that port on a single pleasure steamer.

BIG EASTER TRAVEL

Eastern Steamship Lines report that they have had unusually heavy bookings on all lines for the Patriots' Day and Easter Sunday holiday. Traffic has been particularly heavy from New York city, where considerable publicity has been given in connection with the Tercentenary celebration. As many people are planning to attend the special events on Patriots' Day and the memorial service at Lexington which will be held Easter Sunday, this week-end marks the active opening of the Tercentenary celebration, and early reservations indicate that there will be a great influx to Boston of people who are anxious to attend the celebration.

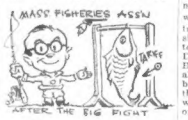
Longshoreman's Gazette

CARL MORRISON, Editor

Vol. 1 No. 9

The fishing industry of Boston and New England owes a debt of gratitude to E. H. Cooley of the Massachusetts Fisheries Association. Working practically single handed, he won the fish tariff fight. We are told that the Boston fish industry was the only industry which won 100 per cent of its demands during the recent tariff squabble in Washington.



SHADES OF MILTON

Our cub reporter is one newspaper man who appreciates good poetry—probably because it is so rare. But, anyhow, here's another of his series of hobbies of harbor-ites:

"Capt. Mortimer Nickerson, who has rounded out 30 years with the Mystic outfit, has one weakness. He actually writes poetry, and the funny thing about it is that most of it is good. I will quote some of it."

At this point we applied the blue pencil, as the cub violated the newspaper tradition that there is no good poetry.

NOT STRETCHING THIS

We're not stretching the news when we tell of the increase in rubber shipments to the Hub. Back in 1920, Frank Davis, of the Chamber, was regarded as a visionary when he insisted that Boston could capture a big share of the crude rubber market. Then the total tonnage was only 1207. Now it is 17,277 for 1929.

We took time today to analyze rubber shipments to Boston during last month. We learned that in 17 days 21 vessels made rubber trips here, from Singapore, Antwerp, London, Colombo, Avonmouth and Batavia. New York had 26 ships in 31 days. Boston is second only to New York in total rubber shipments.

Moral: It CAN be done.

WELCOME, MARINERS

The Propeller Club of Boston, with some 150 members, is one of the most progressive marine groups in New England. Each memoer is an expert in some branch of the marine field. The club is unique in that it usually picks its speakers from its own group.

Today we welcome some new members: M. A. Perry, of the Luckenbach Line; H. M. Gilbert, American Stevedoring Corp.; F. S. Hatch, Merrimac Chemical Trans. Co.; Capt. H. S. Grant, S. S. San Blas of United Fruit; D. W. Brough, Atlantic Mutual Life Insurance Co.; R. F. Symonds, N. E. Trawler Equipment Co.; R. K. Miller, Jr., Holman Co.; J. C. Gray, Jr., Eastern Steamship Lines.

TWO NEW TUGS ADDED

An item of news important to steamship interests is the announcement that in August Boston will have its first Diesel-electric tug boat. The Venus and Luna, designed by John G. Alden of Boston, are under construction, in Delaware, now for the Boston Tow Boat Co. Remarkable maneuvering ability is credited to these new boats, which will be welcomed by the big liners. The length over all will be 96 feet, with a mean draft of 11 feet.

ANOTHER SUPERSTITION

Our feature writer can personally vouch for this superstition. A few days ago an old-timer was given three or four thousand dollars for fish at the fish pier exchange. When offered the money inside, he refused and insisted upon going outdoors and receiving his bills through the customary window.

"I'd lose my money and my ship if I took that money inside," he said.

These are the very words of Charlotte Denny, mistress of refreshments for the Children's Hospital plays, at Smith's Point, Manchester. "After 'Robin Hood' and the 'Pied Piper'—Fro-joy was very popular. Acting is hot work and everyone was glad to cool off with Fro-joy."

Both CHARLOTTE DENNY and MASTER WILLIAM P. BUNDY had no difficulty at all in getting rid of their wares on that afternoon when they played at being Fro-joy ice cream vendors. Every year at Smith's Point, Manchester, there is a performance of some whimsical children's play directed by MRS. GEORGE P. DENNY of Gloucester St., Boston, for the benefit of the Children's Hospital. And neither CHARLOTTE nor WILLIAM can quite decide whether they would rather be members of the cast or sell Fro-joy Ice Cream afterwards.

FOR those little dynamos of human energy who adore ice cream, there's none purer or more deliciously flavored than that found in Fro-joy's 2-flavor combinations.

Made only of fine country cream, fresh fruits and top-notch flavorings, its creamy-cool smoothness is loaded with vital nourishment. You can be sure that this wholesomeness is guarded to the moment it reaches your table. For we wrap the package three times and seal it double-fast.

To grown-ups, the exquisite flavor blends, and the delightful color harmonies, appearing new each week in this resourceful package, are a constant source of delight.

Constant novelty of combinations to stir the most experienced palate. An entirely different dessert every time! And convenience! Ready when you want to serve it. And so easy to get!

DAILY ANTIQUE

No. 75

Pewter returns to our pages once more today. This piece is an old porringer, perhaps dating 150 years back. The form is very similar to that used in these days for babies' bowls; although nowadays, silver is the appropriate thing for gifts to infants.

In practically every instance, pewter, whether cast, hammered or turned, was made along designs prevailing for silver service. This was notably the case with ecclesiastical vessels and utensils. In the fourteenth century, church authorities in England issued orders that pewter chalices were no longer to be used on the altar. Henceforth silver and gold came into general use. It became the custom to have on hand a pewter chalice to bury with the priest upon his death. For many centuries, pewter was used for altar candle sticks. There is a noticeable revival of this practice in some of the more modern Episcopal and Protestant church structures today.

The porringer pictured today is part of a collection owned by A. J. Oettinger of 177 Tremont st., Boston.

In connection with the Massachusetts Tercentenary Year, the Boston Evening American is publishing daily photographs of interesting antiques, particularly of Colonial or early American origin or of historic association are invited to forward photographs and records for publication. If a photograph is not available, the American will send a cameraman to photograph the antique, provided the owner lives in Greater Boston. Address the "Antique Editor, 3 Winthrop sq., Boston."

So easy to have soft, lovely hair

THE modern artist hair-dresser can do wonderful things with your hair. But all your hair needs can not be supplied in the beauty shop. You must help at home. And that's where Danderine comes in. Danderine is so simple and easy to use. Each time you arrange your hair just put a little of this delicately fragranced liquid on your brush. As you draw it through the hair, Danderine removes excess oil, cleanses, brings out the natural color, gives your hair an amazing new lustre.

Used consistently, Danderine dissolves the crust of dandruff, keeps the scalp comfortable and healthy, stops falling hair; helps make your hair grow long, silky and abundant. Your hair is so much easier to arrange and stays in place when Danderine is used. Waves "set" with it look nicer; stay in longer. Five million bottles used a year!

Greetings from representatives of the State organizations will comprise the first section of the program.

Mrs. Franklin W. Hobbs will introduce Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, honorary president and chairman of the statecraft institute; Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, national committeewoman from Massachusetts; Amos L. Taylor, Republican State committee chairman; Mrs. Frank Roe Batchelder, vice-chairman of the State committee; Mrs. Anna C. Tillinghast, president of the Business and Professional Women's Republican Club.

Thomas C. Desmond, president of the Alumni Association of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and vice-president of the New York Republican Club, will make the principal address of the evening, "An Analysis of the Republican Party in the State of New York Today."

Statecraft institute is devoted to disseminating information to the voting population of the ideals and principles of the Republican party.

On Thursday the session will open at 10:30 a. m. with "Our Obligation to Our Citizens of Foreign Birth." Mrs. Thayer will discuss "Americanization"; Mrs. William Morton Wheiler, "Awaking Civic Interest", Miss Ethel M. Johnson, "State Protection for Industrial Workers"; Miss Mary L. Guyton, "Education for Better Citizenship Through the Medium of Our Public Schools," and George N. Pfaffi, Albanian consul, on "Value of Racial Understanding."

At the third and last program of the institute, at 2:15 p. m., "Industry and Finance" will offer discussion by experts, including Magnus W. Alexander, president of the National Industrial Conference Board, New York City, who will talk on "Our Industrial Problem, Present and Future." Mrs. Nelson W. Howard, political director of the club, has had charge of the arrangements of Statecraft Institute.

To Open Surgical Wing on Thursday

The new surgical wing and service building of the Faulkner Hospital in Jamaica Plain, completed at a cost of $750,000, will be officially opened Thursday afternoon. Governor Allen and Mayor Curley will both speak, and the main speech will be given by Dr. Robert Greenough of Longwood.

The new buildings will be open to the public between 2 and 5, with 12 of the nearby debutantes acting as ushers. About 20 prominent Boston women will be hostesses at the tea that will follow the exercises. Mrs. J. Mott Hallowell, 87 Revere st., Beacon Hill, and Miss Emily G. Denny, 111 High st., Brookline, are in charge of the program.

Fordham Club Will Have Easter Dance

The Massachusetts Club of Fordham University will conduct an Easter dance in the Swiss ballroom of the Copley-Plaza Hotel on Easter Monday night.

Black and White in Style Spotlights

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau, The Boston Evening American

PARIS, April 18—That veteran team known as "black and white" continues to bask in the glare of sartorial spotlight, despite strenuous competition from the brown and green families, not to talk of the two b's, blue and beige. Not only is black and white at home, in restaurant, theater and ballroom, but it has also established itself in the world of sport, with successful results. Some use has also been made of black combined with pink, but even that alliance has failed to move the classic combination from its place.

It should be remembered, however, that, although the color scheme is so striking and becoming to all types, it must be blended with care, and grooming and accessories must be perfect. With due care, the result should be one of breath-taking perfection and charm. And black with touches of white is ever more alluring than white with touches of black. Lately we have seen some black silk and woolen suits with white blouses that looked the essence of freshness and chic.

THE delightful afternoon frock shown, is a subscriber to the charms of black discreetly combined with white. It is a Phillippe and Gaston model of black Amazon crepe, which is a new fabric, best described as a very silky and fine georgette. The spiral bandings on the bodice are black at one side and white at the other, and looped in black, hang in two loose ends. The sleeve is very full at the elbow and is gathered into a close lower sleeve. The piping on the skirt, just above the circular flounce, runs down to a narrow pane in front, the edges of which are bound in the same fabric.

THE other sketch is of an evening frock from Champcommunal. It is of white chiffon printed in a delicate design in ink. The zigzag line making the attachment of the frills on bodice and skirt is repeated in the same manner at the back. A soft draped effect at the waistline increases the alluring feminine spirit.

RECEPTION TO PLANE

Assurance that the "New Arbella," good will airship, which will carry a message from Boston and Massachusetts to 85 leading cities of the country, will be met with tremendous receptions is contained in telegrams that are arriving at the national convention headquarters of the American Legion.

The Legion is one of the particularly interested parties, since the plane is to carry a message from Col. Carroll J. Swan, president of the convention corporation, inviting all to attend the national convention to be held in Boston in October.

A second party to the flight is the Massachusetts Tercentenary committee, which is likewise sending a message urging all to visit Boston and Massachusetts during this the Tercentenary year of the Old Bay State.

Lieut. Gen. Edward L. Logan left for Washington last night. While in the national capital he will make arrangements for a reception for the plane and its crew at that city. He will contact Sen. Dwight Hall and Miss Emily G. Denny, 111 High st., Brookline, are in charge of the program. Massachusetts and all the Congressmen of the state for assistance in arranging his program.

Oberammergau Play Lecture at Library

George L. Plimpton, noted publicist and lecturer, gave a detailed explanation of the "Passion Play" at Oberammergau in an address in the assembly hall of the Public Library, last night.

He pointed out the tremendous interest in the productions all over continental Europe and predicted that all attendance records will be broken during the coming summer.

Its marked simplicity and adherence to the Biblical narration of the passion coupled with the dramatic ability of the peasant actors tend to give it an almost universal appeal, Plimpton declared.

Passion Play This Year Will Eclipse All

Oberammergau, April 18—The eyes of the world will turn again this summer to this little Bavarian mountain village, where the Passion Play will be presented, beginning May 11.

Oberammergau, steeped in a pious, religious tradition, which has made the humble peasants of this region famous throughout the world, is busy preparing to make this year's play the greatest in its history. Oberammergauers spend their whole lives, almost, with this idea of the Passion Play always before them.

Many persons envious of the recognition the world has given Oberammergau, say these peasants think only of the money that will be brought to their town.

This is erroneous. If it were so, the inhabitants of Oberammergau would long since have given up wood-carving, horseshoeing, agriculture and all the homely and arduous tasks connected with peasant life.

NONE MAKES MONEY

None of these peasants has made money for himself. What little profit there has been has gone to improve the town and to pay participants for the time lost from their regular labors.

This year they hope to attract sufficient box office patronage to cover a huge debt for improvements to the town and the Passion Play auditorium, besides affording the actors in the drama modest salaries.

Oberammergau knows the expense connected with the performance of the Passion Play. The players still have the money of 1922, the year of the last performance, in mind. That was a terrible financial failure, because unfortunately, it came at the height of the German inflation and was paid for in inflated money, which lost its value almost as soon as it reached the pockets of Oberammergauers.

THEATER REMODELED

Bavaria is well prepared to receive the expected onslaught of tourists coming by rail, highway and air to see the Passion Play. New roads have been built, old ones repaired, bridges built, service stations constructed to make motor travel comfortable.

The Lufthansa will convey passengers by plane to Munich from all large European cities. At first the plan was to operate an air line between Munich and Oberammergau, but mountains around the little town caused its abandonment.

All the houses, some of them centuries old, have been repaired and given colorful coats of paint. The main road has been asphalted. There is a new post office and many modern shops. Never has Oberammergau undergone such a transformation. And the greatest change is in the Passion Play theater, which has been enlarged and modernized at a cost of about $250,000.

Byrd to Stay in Dunedin a Week

Dunedin, N. Z., April 18 (AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, Antarctic explorer, returned here today from his visit to Wellington and will remain in Dunedin a week before sailing for Panama on his homeward journey.

Byrd returned without his famous dog, Igloo, which wandered away from the Ashburton railroad station while Byrd was being made a member of the Aero Club during a short train stop, but was sent to Dunedin on the next express.

DAUGHTERS OF VERMONT ELECT

By NANCY BREWSTER

Pledging unstinted service to the Daughters of Vermont, Mrs. Birney A. Robinson, Newtonville, was elected head of the organization at the annual meeting and election at Hotel Vendome.

Other women elected are: Mrs. Carl S. Floyd, Winthrop, first vice-president; Mrs. Frank H. Briggs, Newton, second vice-president; Mrs. Charles A. Ferguson, Malden, recording secretary; Mrs. Sumner H. Remick, Reading, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. West A. Freeman, Somerville, treasurer.

Three directors chosen are Mrs. Frank L. Perry, Wellesley; Mrs. Joseph A. Otis, Boston, and Mrs. Albert C. Spalding, Somerville.

The society closed its season with a special program offered by blind boys of the Perkins Institution who played and sang.

Mrs. Fred P. Kinney, retiring president, handed over the gavel to Mrs. Robinson as the symbol of her office. Miss Helen M. Winslow was named honorary president.

Will Give Garden Talks at Y. W. C. A.

A series of "garden talks," held at the Y Tuesdays at 2:30 p. m., and Fridays at 6 p. m., and given by Mrs. Byron S. Perrar, a member of the Board of Federated Garden Clubs, is being featured by the association. Mrs. C. Douglas Mercer is the new president.

The lecturer will talk on practical methods for gardening, whether one uses a window box or a good sized yard. There will be informal discussions on indoor and outdoor care and arrangement of flowers, shrubs, annuals, perennials, bulbs, shrubs and trees.

Women Musicians Meet on Monday

About 100 members will meet at the Salada Tea Building, Clarendon and Stuart sts., next Monday at 2 p. m. for the annual musicale and bridge party of the association, of which Mrs. Paul Revere Knight is the head.

Dressed in Tercentenary costumes, nine members will form an orchestra and furnish a musical program as club members present a fashion and style show.

To Present Winner in Play Contest

Mrs. James Scollansbourger, winner of the original play contest, will present her vehicle, "Pierrot's Pierrette," at the annual meeting of the club next Tuesday afternoon at the clubhouse.

A special feature of the afternoon will be the flower show, arranged by the decoration committee, Mrs. Harry E. Sutton, chairman. Mrs. William O. B. Little president, will preside at the business meeting, at which reports will be read and officers elected.

The annual luncheon and bridge for members, waiting list and guests will be held Tuesday, April 29, at Longwood Towers, Brookline. Mrs. Herman W. Hastings, chairman of the American Home, has charge.

Red Men Will Hold Parade Tomorrow

Red Men from this State, New Hampshire and Rhode Island will march in costume from Lafayette sq., Cambridge, to the new Roberts school, at Harvard and Windsor sts., where exercises will be held tomorrow afternoon.

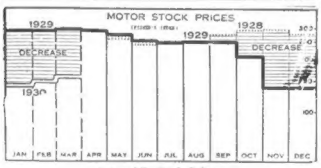
Motor Stock Prices



Automobile Stock Prices

By MARLOW PEYERS
(Irving Fisher Service)

The automobile industry has been through a period of strenuous pinching since last fall, but now appears to have hit a wonderful stride once more.

Prices of motor stocks took an upward tendency in February and continued nicely on the same path in March. Almost all of the companies have cut down production considerably, a fact that has helped a good deal in the turnover of existing machines.

The most serious problem confronting the motor-car industry is the perplexing one of disposing of the tremendous number of used cars now in evidence on every hand.

Progress is being made in selling this material, but in some cases, from the producers' point of view, it might be just as well to heap the old cars together and set fire to them, as was done recently in Los Angeles.

The Hand and the Needle—

THE difference in the cost of clothing is determined largely by the value of the hand that guides the needle. A matter tailor demands a master's wage and the human hand is costlier than a machine. Those who demand the craftsmanship of the human hand are willing to pay the additional cost.

Whether the needle is guided by a master's hand or a machine there can be no finer fabric selected than Ram's Head guaranteed cloth.

New York and Boston Stock Exchanges are closed today and tomorrow. They will re-open Monday, although the London Stock Exchange will remain closed in extension of the Easter holidays. Chicago Board of Trade is closed today, but opens tomorrow. This body, which has three Boston members, does not specialize in stocks, but trades in wheat, corn, oats and rye.

Gerard Swope, president of General Electric, who borrowed money to enable him to secure the advantages of education at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, confirms the report that his company is to erect a $75,000,000 manufacturing plant in St. Louis. President Swope says he does not care to say just what will be put into the plant, aside from the 75 millions. It happens that General Electric's chief executive was born in St. Louis. The plant might well be named the Swope Memorial or something to that effect.

Donald K. David resigned as assistant dean at the Harvard business school, where he was associate professor of marketing. That was a little less than three years ago. Mr. David became executive vice-president of the Royal Baking Powder Co. Later he became president of the Chase & Sanborn Corp. His duties now extend to a new field, since he has been elected a director of R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., New York department store. Mr. David's directorates include positions with Standard Brands, Inc., Great Island Corp. and American Maize Products Co.

In responsible circles the belief prevails that industry is again on the upgrade. Not only has the automotive outlook improved, along with construction, but also steel operations are better. Steel and automotive industries are, of course, closely linked.

"A declining tendency has been noted in certain groups and special stocks. This readjustment, however, has not disturbed the general list to any extent, although securities, as a whole, have failed to make the headway that was shown in preceding weeks. While a period of irregularity appears in prospect for the immediate future, it is our opinion that advantage should be taken of any weakness to accumulate sound securities," says Gannett & Co.

* * *

There appears to be a general agreement that the automobile outlook is considerably improved. Production schedules of Columbia Axle Co., subsidiary of Cord Corporation, have been increased approximately 1000 units a month, E. H. Parkhurst, president, announced today. The increase was made necessary by expanded commitments from a majority of the 20 manufacturers who are supplied by the company.

* * *

"We foresee a steady increase in the demands of the automobile industry throughout the year," Mr. Parkhurst said in announcing the increase. "Conditions seem to be greatly improved and the renewal of confidence has made itself felt for the last 30 days."

Fine Points of Modern Home Shown in Milton

By BETTY BONNELL

ST. AGATHA TERRACE, East Milton, one of the most convenient spots on the South Shore, is at present being further developed by M. A. and E. J. Saulnier. You, of course, will remember the beautiful furnished "Home of Wonders" at this spot.

The homes now completed are just as pretty. They are of the larger type of eight and nine rooms and three are now available.

Of course, the newest and latest in home labor saving devices are in all of these homes. To my mind each house is worth considerably more than the prices being asked for them.

HOMES HAVE SIX ROOMS

The neighborhood is certainly select and the additional houses now being built contain six rooms and sun parlor, hot water heat, oak floors of select cedar stock, real marble tile walls in the kitchen with a rubber tile floor harmonizing perfectly. The kitchen steve blends excellently into the color scheme. These kitchens will be a charm to every bride and housewife.

A toilet is found on the first floor, also a fine back porch with ice chest accommodations. There is plenty of closet space and floor plugs. The living room has a beautiful fireplace, French doors, book cases with an all-gumwood finish and panel.

The bath-rooms are finished in black and white tile which sets off the fixtures most attractively.

EASY TO TRANSPORTATION

I was greatly impressed with the size of the rooms throughout these houses, but homes like these really have to be seen to be appreciated. Papers and fixtures are all extraordinary.

Concrete side-walks, finished streets, sewerage, etc., are other features.

Saulnier & Saulnier have arranged either savings bank or co-operative bank loans and terms will surprise you.

St. Agatha Terrace is only 20 minutes ride from Boston and only 8 miles over the road. It is one minute from St. Agatha Church and convenient to all other denominations. Two bus lines, one connecting with the Ashmont Rapid Transit, the other to Mattapan, together with the East Milton Depot and stores only a block away, prove its easy accessibility.

Accept my invitation to drive out there any Saturday or Sunday; you will find the owners on the premises.

St. Agatha Terrace is the street next to the church, near the depot and is at the junction of Brook Road and Adams Street.

CLEAR VISION
assures a great future for
Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company

SOON after it had discovered three of the country's most famous oil pools—the Seminole City, Bowlegs and Little River pools—Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company again stirred the petroleum world when, on December 4, 1928, it brought in a gusher on hitherto unproved ground near Oklahoma City. Flowing high gravity oil at a rate which promised a new field of tremendous importance, this well opened up the now celebrated Oklahoma City pool.

This field is already one of the major oil producing areas of the country. Two of the most recent wells completed there by Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company each flowed more than 42,000 barrels of oil in a 24-hour test. The largest well ever brought in in Oklahoma before these completions flowed about 25,000 barrels daily.

This is only one example of the clear vision that has guided the Company in its program of continuous exploration and acquisition of large reserves. Clear vision in employing geologists, geophysicists and paleontologists to explore new territories enabled the Company to acquire many favorable leaseholds and royalties which later increased greatly in value.

The Company now holds oil and gas leases on 1,122,000 acres, gas leases on 340,640 acres and royalty interests in 382,000 acres, assuring ample production to meet inevitable future demands, probably under even more favorable conditions than exist today.

The same capable management that has built up this petroleum reserve has placed the Company in a strong position to take care of future financial needs. As of October 31, 1929, current assets were over $20,300,000, while current liabilities were less than $6,100,000. At the same time the surplus amounted to $20,200,000.

Purchase now of the Non-Voting Class A stock of Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company will enable you to share in the future assured by a far-sighted and experienced organization. Mail the coupon below for "The Story of Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company."

That First Passover

Twenty-one years later Christ came again to Jerusalem and talked with other priests and rabbis. They had forgotten the boy who had once appeared before them, and they feared the man from Galilee who spoke with "authority." He had lived His life and done His work and the end was near.

The accompanying silhouette should be studied closely. It is of a prominent Episcopal rector of Boston who is spoken of by his friends as the boy, grown into manhood, who posed for the artist Hoffman in this most famous of religious pictures. A certain resemblance can still be seen in these finely chiseled features.

Should any recognize this clergyman, and care for an artistic copy, send in the picture with right name and a two-cent stamp.

TWO MARRIED FOLLOWING BAPTISM

Pastor Arthur T. Brooks of the Dudley St. Baptist Church, "The Singing Church," has announced a very full Easter Day. There will be accessions to membership by baptisms, a long program of special Easter music and the regular services.

He is to baptize two of his young people at the beginning of the services and later will join them in wedlock. Seldom are circumstances so arranged as to combine these two sacred rites. The pastor is planning for a full church at all services throughout the day. His morning sermon will be on the topic "The Message of the Risen Christ" and in the evening he will preach on "What the Resurrection Means." Both morning and evening services will begin 15 minutes earlier than usual, 10:15 a. m. and 7:15 p. m.

Friendless Men and Women Are Helped

During a full year the Union Rescue Mission, 1-3 Dover pl., Boston, sees hundreds of men and women pass through the welcome doorway. At periods of unemployment, such as have visited the city in past months, jobless people from many walks of life come for cheer and comfort. Some of these visitors are seeking help to return to distant homes; hundreds are asking for temporary aid until they can secure work, and others ask for the price of a plate of beans and a cup of coffee. Such are the people who appeal at Easter time, especially to those who are trying to follow the Christ along the road of service.

Easter Drama at First Methodist

"The Hall fo My Goods," is the title of a play to be given tomorrow evening at the First Methodist church on Temple st. The three acts take place in the home of Zacchaeus. Miss Ruth Dow will be special music, both morning and evening. In the morning there will be Easter carolling on the roof of the church. At 10:30 the choir will march into the church and continue. Pastor Harry Belmont Hill will preach on "The Living Christ."

'EVERY MAN HAS CHANCE'

A supplement to the Jewish Advocate devoted to "good will" this week in connection with the Feast of the Passover devotes its pages to an interview with Mr. Patrick A. O'Connell, president of the Calvert Round Table. Mr. O'Connell is given the highest praise for his kindly and broad spirit of sympathy and friendly understanding of those who belong to other faiths than his own, which is Catholic. Among other things the head of the Round Table says:

"Addressing his Jewish interviewer,"

"We've got to live and work together, so why not do so peaceably and in a spirit of harmony? Instead of attacking, we ought to help each other in every way possible. Of course there is bound to be a certain amount of intolerance due to bigotry and misunderstanding, but we should all learn the lesson that every man has a chance for salvation."

Continuing, he says:

"In regard to the Jewish people I am glad to note that they are taking a broader and less clannish point of view in regard to public welfare. One thing we must all do is to take a greater interest in civic affairs. In fact, the topic at our next general conference may very well be: What Makes for Good Citizenship?"

Cuban Bishop at St. Peter's, Cambridge

The Rt. Rev. Hiram Richard Huise, D. D., missionary bishop of Cuba, will officiate at St. Peter's Church, Cambridge, on Easter Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service. The rector, Frederic C. Lawrence is rector of St. Peter's.

New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children

(Legal Title—Incorporated 1894)

Brookline Street, Oak Hill Section, Newton Center

This institution was the first to give Sunlight Treatment in this country. Our growth has progressed steadily, but there is never enough room to meet the increasing demand made for the care of crippled children. Recently there have been added porches and rooms equipped with glass which transmits the ultraviolet rays, thus permitting the children to be exposed to sunlight while they are protected through the winter months.

The work of the home is threefold: First, to give destitute crippled children a real home; second, to provide adequate orthopedic and nursing care, especially for those with tuberculous joints and infantile paralysis; third to give them educational advantages and vocational training in order to make them self-supporting later on in life. We also have a Training School for Nursing Attendants.

MANY FARMERS DO NOT VOTE

A voting chart drawn by the Rev. John M. Trout and placed on display at the Epworth League church last week shows a startling indifference to public affairs in rural districts.

Mr. Trout, who has been doing field work for the Massachusetts Federation of Churches since the first of February has devoted his time largely to studying voting averages in cities and towns.

"If farmers and village folk complain that they are ruled by the cities, they have themselves largely to blame says the clergyman. He has also discovered that there was a surprising decline in the United States in the number of registered votes cast from 1912 to 1928 when the Hoover campaign brought the figure back. Eighty-eight per cent of all voters cast ballots in the MacKinley campaign, but the Harding year mustered a paltry 49 per cent for both Republicans and Democrats.

Easter Gifts Go to "Little Wanderers"

Fifty small girls and boys at the Little Wanderers Home, 161 Huntington ave., were made happy yesterday when a group of Junior Red Cross members descended upon the home with Easter tokens in the form of May baskets, potted plants, etc.

These remembrances when added to a display of lovely flowers donated by one of the florists gave to the home a festive and glorious appearance. Among the there are but 50 children in the temporary home, there are many hundreds of small girls and boys scattered over New England in foster homes under the general care of this institution. Last year 900 different children were cared for by the Home for Little Wanderers.

The OFFICE WIFE

The Most Discussed Novel of the Day by FAITH BALDWIN

A Story of Some Folks Who Might Be in Your Office —or Your Husband's

What Has Gone Before

WHEN Janet Andrews went home for the day with a headache Lawrence Eaton, head of the Eaton Advertising Agency, went into the office of Timothy Sanders, the vice-president, and borrowed Anne Murdock, Sanders' secretary, to help him out. Shortly after, Anne, settled at Janet's orderly desk, typed out Eaton's letter so that he commented upon her speed and accuracy, and after he had signed it asked on a sudden impulse "Shall you be busy this evening, Miss Murdock?

Anne thought of an engagement with Ted O'Hara, but answered immediately: "No, Mr. Eaton."

Miss Andrews' illness leaves me in rather a hole," he confided. "I'll arrange things with Mr. Sanders if you can stay and help me for a hour or two."

To work—with the chief! Well, why shouldn't she—permanently? A woman in business had need of every weapon she could employ to hold her job, and the man who controlled the job. Well, if she got this job, thought Anne, she'd hold it!

Anne went to ride with Ted and was made love to, but did not respond.

CHAPTER VII

AFTER a pause Anne heard Eaton reply gravely to Joe:

You needn't tell me. I understand enough to know whatever it is it's giving you a bad time. Your'e a good man and we don't want to lose you. We cannot see your future—and our own future depends upon the work of men like yourself—wrecked because of some emotional unbalance.

"I suggest that you take six months' vacation, Joe, with full pay. Go abroad, go West, go anywhere, and fight your battle. Then come back to us and tell me if you think you can go on again, giving us the best that is in you."

After a little Brown's voice, choked and low, reached Anne: "I—Mr. Eaton, I can't thank you enough."

"Don't try. We've all been up against it sometime, one way or another. Good-by, Joe, and good luck."

A moment later Brown passed through Anne's office without seeing her, so dimmed were his eyes. But his face was lighted with a new hope, with returning confidence in himself and in his star. And Anne's eyes were equally misty. She thought: "He's more than a great business man—after all, he's a man."

This was his human side, the side which made him beloved, not for his business capabilities but for himself, his understanding of his associates, and a side of him which showed a response to emotional appeal.

Heard Rumors

Eaton Thought Over the Case of Brown

In his office Eaton sat thinking of the boy who had just left him. He had heard rumors, vague but enough to give him something to go on. Sex, the primal hunger, the impetus to progress and sometimes the obstacle. Sex and a man's needs. First passion and its demands.

He sighed, his face suddenly lined and altered. Well, if he'd needed—excitement, the thrill of pursuit, the adventuring chase,' he'd sublimated it in his work—almost—but not quite.

When some weeks had passed, Eaton spoke to Anne.

"Miss Andrews has sent me her resignation," he told her. "Would you care to carry on with me, Miss Murdock? There'll be an advance in salary. You've done excellent work and even in this short time I've grown to depend on you. I'll speak to Mr. Sanders, if it's a bargain. Is it?"

"It certainly is!"

Anne told him, and smiled, her eyes radiant, the quick color rising to her cheeks.

Then, feeling that she had been a trifle informal in her acceptance of the advancement, she managed a brief speech of gratitude and a promise to work hard and well. But Eaton cut her short, reluctantly, for he enjoyed watching her expressive face, her lovely eyes.

"It's all right, then. I warn you, I'm a slave driver," he said, and laughed.

As she went into her office he thought how pleasant it was to have a secretary so soothing to the eyes. He had not missed beauty in Janet Andrews, but he appreciated it in Anne Murdock. He liked the way she walked, the way she carried her shining head; he liked watching her hands, capable, well-cared-for, prettily modeled. He liked her voice and her manner and her way of anticipating his needs before he himself was aware of them. He liked her. And he found himself looking forward to seeing her every day.

Anne sat down at the desk—her desk now—and tried to control the rapid pulsing of her heart. Another step up the ladder. An office of her own. Fifty a week, perhaps, in her pay envelope, and her name in gilt letters on the glass door.

But as exhilarating as office and salary and title was the thought of working permanently with Eaton, in intimate daily contact with him.

She saw that her hands were shaking. She felt an impulse toward laughter or tears. She shook herself mentally, pulled herself together. Such hysteria wasn't like her. Even a better job was no excuse, she told herself severely.

Poor Janet!

Anne Had Thought Her So Sexless

Of course, it was the thought of the job which excited her, the job which was a sign and seal of success. The job and not the man, after all. The man was a symbol, also. Yet, as she sat there and heard him moving about the inner room with his light sure step, and felt her heart thud heavily, she was aware of a sudden misgiving, a creeping doubt, a frail but frightened wonder, a warning admission of his growing physical attraction for her.

She turned to her work again, setting her full lips firmly. This was dangerous nonsense, she admitted to herself. Of course, she admired Mr. Eaton, admired him greatly, but that was all.

But as her pulses steadied, she was aware of an ironic hoot of laughter somewhere in the back of her brain. Had Janet Andrews once reasoned in the same manner—"but that was all"?

Poor Janet, whom she had thought so sexless, had permitted her sex to run away with her sanity. Anne felt an unspoken challenge in that diagnosis of Janet's failure.

DR. CABOT BARES MICHIGAN CLASH

CABOT TELLS OF U. OF M. DISPUTE

Says He Quit University Because He Tried to Give Service

Dr. Hugh Cabot left [illegible] of the University of Michigan because it was simply a waste of time to try to [illegible] Philosophy expressed today at the Hotel Statler where he was a luncheon guest of the New England Health Institute.

"I have always believed that State Universities are founded primarily to give service to the community," Dr. Cabot said, "My ideas at the Michigan University were not approached by other members. Some people believe a state institution is a place where one gets as much money as he can for the least service he can render for it. Others believe that public service is the only excuse for such an institution and there we clashed.

"I don't blame them for kicking me out of Michigan. I should have gone long before I did because I was simply in their way with my different ideas of public service."

EXCEPTION IN THIS STATE.

Dr. Cabot declared the same situation prevails throughout the country in state universities, but that the Massachusetts State University has a better chance to make good its existence because there are more New England people sincerely dedicated to service than can be found anywhere else in the country, in his opinion.

"It is my great desire to see medicine administered as an economic measure in the repair and replacement of the human just as automobile service stations repair and replace parts of machines," Doctor Cabot explained. "Such repair is charged against the business in the motor industry. It should be charged against the community where the individual worker is concerned. That is my idea of public service."

As to the all-round family doctor he passed with the era which he served, more than 20 years ago, he said:

FAMILY DOCTOR GONE.

"It is foolish to expect to bring the family doctor back," Dr. Cabot said. "It is too much to expect of the human brain that any one man can serve in the all-round capacity that the family doctor did before the machine age arrived. Medicine has advanced too far to expect that."

At the morning session the health commissioners of the six New England states voted to join the Harvard infantile paralysis commission to combat this scourge of childhood.

The resources of the highly-organized New England council were placed at the disposal of the six states by Redfield Proctor, president, as the doctors discussed practical means of preventing the spread of the disease and of handling epidemics as they arise.

Girl in Easter Rig Fined $5 as Drunk

Attired in an imported French frock, with a fashionable Easter hat, Miss Marie Prain, 22 of Wollaston, appeared in Quincy court today and was fined $5 by Judge Albert Avery on a charge of drunkenness. She was given until May 1 to pay.

Miss Prain's companion William H. Brown, 18, of Dedham was charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. His case was continued until April 25.

DEMAND GROWS FOR TAX CUT

REPRESENTATIVE THOMAS SMITH JR. Fall River Justice to the small wage earner requires immediate passage of an equitable tax law. It must be done at the present session of the Legislature, and I will do my share.

The present tax law leaves too great a burden on the little fellow. The small householder the backbone of the state, has his property in plain sight for the tax gatherer. The wealthy owner of intangibles on the other hand escapes his share of the tax burden.

There should be a decrease in the rate and larger exemptions for those with small salaries."

REPRESENTATIVE CARLTON PRATT of Saugus "It is imperative for every progressive thinking member of the legislature to secure an equitable readjustment of the income tax law and wipe out the blot of a previous legislature who disregarded the wage earners interests.

The present income tax system imposes too heavy a burden on those members of society least able to carry it and too small a share on those best able, and to whom, in equity and justice, this tax should be shifted."

MRS. EVA WHITING WHITE A resident of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union "In the question of meeting government and state expenses, I think that the great burden of taxation should be borne by those most able to carry it, that is, the wealthy. There is no doubt but that the man earning a small income pushes up a large part of our population. Of this class the man of 40 to 50 is probably the most uncertain element in the community.

He has reached the stage where he is endeavoring to maintain himself and rear and educate his children. It is certain that the best blood of the nation is in this class.

"I firmly believe that all those with incomes of less than $5000 a year should be zealously guarded against excess taxation. We must realize, too, that the income of the wealthy are derived from the less salaried classes. If there must be a burden borne, let those best able bear it."

But if he rode today to warn Cambridge and Arlington and Lexington and Concord—perhaps he'd use a speedy cycle.

Or he might rush over the "L" to the airport and take a plane to hop to Concord in about three minutes counting stops.

Or he even could sit still in a broadcasting station and flash his alarm on the air for all the "Middlesex farms" have radios now.

Or he could use the method of the Paul Revere of today, who was afraid to phone or call—but whatever he did it would be modern.

V. F. W. URGES HUB SAILING

"I wish to enter on behalf of the Department of Massachusetts our expression of dissatisfaction with that intended manner of carrying on this great boy pilgrimage. I hope that you will understand Mr Hurley that this trip is being made with the express purpose of visiting the grave of a departed son and not the transportation of men who are young and in the service.

"In many instances the parting was in Boston, and Boston itself is closely connected in these mothers mind as with the last view of their sons. I assure you Mr. Hurley that these tender memories are very much a part of the life of the mother, the last impression and it is most fitting that they be given the graves that contain all that is human left of those strong, young men who were their sons, should start from Boston.

"They are entitled to the greatest effort that the government can bestow at a time like this," she said, "even if it costs more to have the ships sail from here—which it will not when railroad fares are considered—that should not interfere with the decision of New England Gold Star mothers to begin these sacred pilgrimages from their own Boston port. I hope the officials at Washington will take this into consideration and assure them that they are to sail from any port they desire."

Sonny and the Count Will Furnish Thrills

PAUL BOWSER isn't worrying about the result of the Marathon race, the holiday double-header at Braves Field or the attempt of the boxers to put on a show proper at fractions.

"The world's heavyweight title bout bout between Gus Sonnenberg and Count Zarnoff at the Boston Garden on next Thursday night has the boys by the ears," Bowser told Mr. Boston. "When I signed Sonny and the Count, I realized it was a good attraction, but I didn't believe at the time that this was the bout for which the fans have been waiting.

Jack Conway

"I originally planned the show for the Arena, but was obliged to shift to the Garden when a Marathon dance or some such thing squeezed me out of a date at the St. Botolph st. playhouse. This sent the tussle to the Garden with its huge seating capacity. And do you know the Garden will be filled when Sonny and the Count sweep into action?

"This fellow Zarnoff has caught on with the fans. He gives them the sensational which is what the public wants.

"Sonny of course has always been a tremendous attraction in New England but I feel that the crowd will be rooting for Zarnoff to win next Thursday night. Funny thing about being a champion. The same people who rooted for the champ to reach the top want to see him licked after he has occupied his throne for a short while. I guess it's the head that wears even a wrestling crown.

"I look for Sonny and the Count to furnish the most thrilling mat battle of the season. If you can pick the winner, you're a wiz."

Wrestling Is Enjoying Its Greatest Season

MR. BOSTON finds that while boxing, track athletics and some of the other sports have not been [illegible] the game is on the crest of a wave of popularity," said Mr. Boston. "I believe this is due to the fine shows which have been offered by Paul Bowser. The latter has given the public a run for its money and the fans have shown their appreciation by shoving the box office at Paul's shoes.

"Bowser's ability to develop new talent is what has enabled him to keep drawing big crowds. Before Bowser started promoting in this city, the same wrestlers showed here year after year. Conditions are changed today. The college athlete and the promising amateurs have been given opportunities to make good and a surprisingly large number of them have come through with flying colors.

"Sonnenberg, Metz, George, Bigiane and the other new comers have blazed their way to fame. They have given wrestling some of the fire that the home run handed to baseball and the Dempsey kayo instilled into boxing.

Commission Likely to Modify Foul Ruling

IT has been called to Mr. Boston's attention that the boxing commission [illegible] to modify its ruling on fouls as applied to the game's boxers.

"The present rule calls for a three months' suspension of a boxer who has committed a foul," chirped Mr. Boston. "The intent of this rule was to penalize the headliners who are getting big money and who have at times struck low.

"Preliminary boxers getting as low as $50 for their services, have come under the same ruling. There has been few cases of where a preliminary boy has committed an intentional foul.

"When they do hit low, it is in the heat of battle and the foul is unintentional. A kid getting $50 for four tough rounds usually has visions of going up the ladder and does not intentionally hit low.

"The boxing commission realizes that the present rule is doing an injustice to a lot of kids who are having a hard time keeping body and soul together and will probably change the ruling as far as preliminary boxers are concerned. It will be a wise move."

Larry Doyle, California heavyweight who showed here in the national amateur boxing championships has turned pro and will go under the management of Johnny Buckley. Jack Sharkey a pilot.

Gaffney Sees Old Team Play
Former Owner Once a Cop
Gave Braves Field to Boston

By Damon Runyon

NEW YORK, April 18.—Jim Gaffney watched his old ball club, the Boston Braves, at McGraw's Gym the other day.

Damon Runyon

JIM GAFFNEY was once a New York cop. A flatfoot on his proudly styles. A New Yorker to the core, Tammany Hall and all, he had certain contracting interests that took him to Boston town. He had always been a violent baseball fan with a strong penchant for the Yan kees, called by his friend, Frank Farrell.

It must have brought back cheering memories to him to see this fine old Yankee Hun ting Hounds and Marauders on the field in baseball uniforms again. Also he has given Boston a National League pennant since he left there.

NOTICE that Jim Gaffney is again racing a few horses on the New York tracks. He may

New GILLETTE BLADE and RAZOR

SHORTEN your daily shaving time; no more wiping—no more cut towels

YOUR WORK ends when your shave ends, with this New Gillette Blade and Razor. Simply bring it at right angles, re-tighten, rinse under hot running water and shake dry.

Think what this means. Think of the time and trouble saved. No more cut towels! No more bothering with razor parts that always seem to be out of order.

This one improvement alone is worth the price of the New Gillette. Yet it is only one of many splendid features that you will find in this new razor and blade.

"Razor pull," for instance, won't bother you any more. "Razor pull," Gillette engineers found, is caused by nicks and dents that are put in the corners of a razor when it is dropped. In a precision instrument such as the Gillette, the smallest dent is enough to throw the blade out of perfect alignment, to make it "pull."

In New Gillette blades this "pull" has been overcome. Just the corners of the razor blade have been removed. Edges are ground and honed to a keen, smooth, even contour. Corners are rounded and polished. Result: a blade that will not pull, that will not scrape, that will not irritate the most tender skin.

The old comfort and ease. The thrill of a perfect shave. The blade is held firm and accurate by a rigid and durable one-piece frame. Notice how the guard bar is bent at both ends to protect the skin from scrapes and cuts. Parts that fit. The new blade ends are square, not round, for safer hand and face shaves. These ends shave closer around the nose and corners of mouth, nose and ears.

The price of the New Gillette Razor, 24K. gold plated, cased in a beautiful box, and equipped with New Gillette Blades is one dollar. The New Gillette Blade is one dollar for ten and 50c for five.

Don't wait a minute to enjoy the comfort of this new and perfect shave. Visit the nearest Gillette dealer today.

COURAGE MAY BE AS IMPORTANT AS BEAUTY

Latter Has No Monopoly on Life's Good Things

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

I WONDER whether Beauty hasn't an overpaid account?

Whether we do not insist too much on the importance of handsome eyes and abundant hair, and all that. And whether we do not urge too strongly on ourselves and others, poor doomed creatures that we are, to acquire by main strength as much beauty as we can.

Beatrice Fairfax

Do you know a city block that hasn't a beauty salon? Do you know what enormous sums American women spend yearly for cosmetics? Do you ever read a story whose heroine isn't beautiful?

What all this leads to is the belief that a woman's whole happiness depends on her success in achieving either beauty or the imitation of beauty.

Must we believe that a woman is a failure and her life a tragedy if she has to confess frankly that she isn't beautiful and never can be?

To my mind, all this is very far from the truth. It is not that I do not adore beauty and beautiful women. But I know that the beauty has not a monopoly of all the good things in life. And I know that a woman may have qualities more important to her happiness than beauty is.

A few days ago a girl of fifteen, whose name is Ann, wrote me a very brave letter.

Ann has two older sisters who are always being praised and petted for their good looks. And nobody has ever admired poor Ann, who has, therefore, come to believe herself a sort of ugly duckling.

She hasn't, however, grown morbid or despairing.

On the contrary, she has made out a modest list of her good points, as she sees them, and she asks me to tell her how, with these qualities and without beauty, she can succeed in life.

She wants an education, she wants to earn her living in some interesting way and she wants to marry and have children. Is she disqualified—in a world where there is so much talk of beauty?

My answer is that a girl who, at 15, has the courage to look facts in the face, who admits that her piquant little snub nose and large mouth aren't what is usually understood by beauty, and who, nevertheless, makes up her mind that she is going to get something out of life, after all—has made a pretty promising start. I believe she has as good a chance as any other girl to win the prizes of life, and I will explain why.

In the first place, beauty alone does not always compel admiration. Beauty can seem insipid or even tiresome unless it is accompanied by charm or gayety or wit. Where as a girl who has these latter qualities can, I honestly believe, dispense with beauty altogether.

If Ann has the courage and independence and liveliness that I believe she has, she doesn't need to worry for a moment over the unimportance of her nose or the fact that her eyes are too light. It is girls of this sort who make things come their way. People say of her "Isn't she charming." And not until later do they even remember to ask of each other, "Let me see—was she good-looking?"

Of course, we are all going to keep on secretly wishing and hoping, so far as beauty is concerned. That desire is something we can't hope to recover from. But I wish those of us who get discouraged about achieving beauty could be consoled by looking about a little, by taking stock of the world as it is.

Are all the women who are loved devotedly by admirable husbands paragons of beauty? We have to admit that they are not. Do the girls to whom that enviable adjective, "popular," is applied, always measure up to some beauty standard? We know that they are sometime not even pretty.

Is it possible that we over-value beauty?

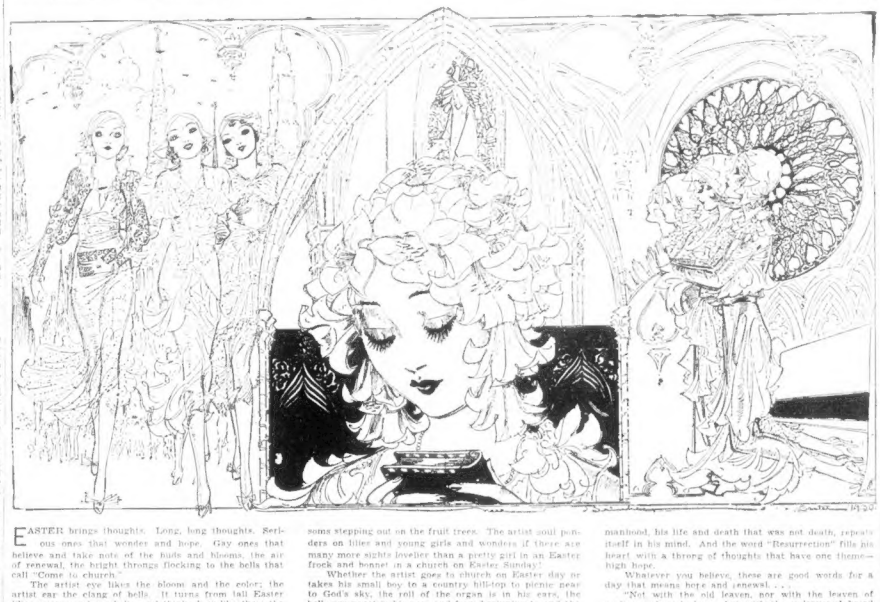
Easter Lilies

Drawn by Nell Brinkley



EASTER brings thoughts. Long, long thoughts. Serious ones that wonder and hope. Gay ones that believe and take note of the buds and blooms, the air of renewal, the bright throngs flocking to the bells that call "Come to church."

The artist eye likes the bloom and the color; the artist ear the clang of bells. It turns from tall Easter lilies, snowy and symbolic, and thinks how like them the young girls are, out in their new frocks like new blossoms stepping out on the fruit trees. The artist soul ponders on lilies and young girls and wonders if there are many more sights lovelier than a pretty girl in an Easter frock and bonnet in a church on Easter Sunday!

Whether the artist goes to church on Easter day or takes his small boy to a country hill-top to picnic near to God's sky, the roll of the organ is in his ears, the bells are sweet in his ears and from beginning to end the beautiful story of Christ's babyhood, childhood, boyhood, manhood, his life and death that was not death, repeats itself in his mind. And the word "Resurrection" fills his heart with a throng of thoughts that have one theme—high hope.

Whatever you believe, these are good words for a day that means hope and renewal. . . .

"Not with the old leaven, nor with the leaven of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth."

Playing Truant

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

WHILE there is a very grave danger involved in nagging at a child to study and pass his grades, there is, on the other hand an equally grave danger resulting from the child's failing too many times, until he is finally in a room filled with chummy younger and smaller than himself.

Cameron Constance

The remedy lies in arousing your child's interest in the study in ranks lowest in, if the teacher has somehow or another failed to do so. Usually the child is probably well versed in all but one or two subjects which seem a stump him completely.

Failure never builds up needed self-respect. And two points failures usually result in a child's "I don't care" to every defeat. Recurring failures, shame day after day at failing in school, shame at the ultimate fate which put a child who is head and shoulders above the rest of his mates in daily competition with them will eventually make the child seek a way out of this degradation.

There are two kinds of truancy to my mind. The perfectly normal succumbing to the lures of a balmy spring day in a natural temperament into which we have nearly all fallen. But being habitually a truant is another matter entirely and is usually caused by this situation of a backward child who is forced to compete in the fall examinations with younger and smaller children.

Where are other causes, of course, but this is the most prevalent in the no two grades, and is in a room below his head and shoulders and to his age and size, he belongs. It is in your power to remedy the situation. Ask the teacher to enter the...

Good to Eat

By MARTHA LEE

WITH all the modern appliances for extracting orange juice, preparing the national breakfast drink for an orange-minded family, is now a simple task. Three or four of the big juicy seedless oranges now on the market make a lot of juice. A favorite extract or is made of heat-proof glass and is large enough to use both as a jelly mold, a fruit reamer and a dish in which to bake pudding.

I must give you my pet recipe for Orange Rolls, originated to serve for a bridge luncheon with a fruit salad.

ORANGE ROLLS

INGREDIENTS:

2 cakes compressed yeast
¼ cup sugar
4 tbsps. butter
2 cups salt
6 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. grated orange rind
36 orange sections.

METHOD:

Crumble yeast and cover with sugar. Add butter and salt to water, stirring till butter is melted. Cool to lukewarm. Add yeast and sugar, flour and orange rind. Beat well. Let rise in a warm place till double in bulk. Stir down and let rise again till double in bulk. Stir and let rise a third time.

Pat out piece of dough about the size of an egg into 3-inch squares. Keep dough as soft as possible, using only enough flour on board and hands to prevent sticking.

On each square place an orange section which has been rolled in sugar. Fold over dough, completely enveloping orange. Roll in melted butter and pack closely together in a well buttered baking pan. Let rise till very light.

Bake in a hot oven (450 deg. F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Brush generously with a powdered sugar and orange juice glaze as soon as removed from oven. The entire process may be completed in 3 to 4 hours.

The Office Wife -:- A Serial

Was it not possible for a woman to work with a man, with a dangerously attractive man, even, and still find herself more worker than woman?

She thought it was, and went back to her typing and did not know that Lawrence Eaton, listening, half-conscious, to the rapid staccato to which business is tuned, sighed a little and smiled a little and wondered why he was suddenly so restless and yet so unwontedly content.

Lawrence Eaton's New York home was the duplex penthouse on the roof of an exclusive Riverside avenue apartment building overlooking the Park and the blue waters of the reservoir. A man who had been brought up in an old brick house at the lower end of the avenue, and whose early married life had been lived in the same district in one of the Bride's Row houses, had yet to accustom himself to an apartment.

But Linda liked their home and, after all, it was Linda who really lived in it. He slept there but he did not live there in the intimate sense in which Linda did.

Shortly before Christmas Dick Ameson dined with the Eatons. Another woman was present, Edith Lucien, an attractive widow, one of Linda's close friends. After dinner the four played bridge.

Linda Eaton was at her best as hostess. She had a genius for making people comfortable, and was by nature amiable and gay-hearted. And she was handsome.

At the time of her marriage to Eaton, she had been a rawboned girl, with masses of blue-black hair and brown eyes. Born Linda Schuyler, she was the fourth daughter of an impoverished family.

Her father had been a bookish gentleman who failed to keep his visionary eyes upon investments and the property rights of Dutch American ancestors.

Her mother, left a widow in Linda's childhood, had been a brisk, worried woman, eternally contemplating with affection and exasperation the mild inefficiency of her husband. She had saved and sacrificed and battled to educate her girls in good private school, to fit them becomingly, to take them to Europe for a final polish, to permit them to follow their particular interests—in Linda's case, golf and tennis, horses and dogs—and, eventually, to marry them to money.

Lawrence Eaton had fallen in love with Linda when he entered his uncle's advertising agency, after some newspaper experience and a period of salesmanship. The other girls were safely and happily married, and Mrs. Schuyler-Jones had the drive in Eaton, the urge forward which would make him a moneymaker in his own right.

Copyright by International Magazines, Inc. Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

In the next installment on Monday of this tensely interesting story Jameson, at a bridge party at Eaton's house, reveals that the latter has a new and lovely secretary. How Mrs. Eaton receives this news and her desire to see the girl is told in Faith Baldwin's clever way.

Smart 3-Piece Suit Leads for Sports

By ANN ARDEN

(This Modern World, a department of fashions, decorations and social customs.)

Boston American Staff Photographer.

Model from Wm. Filene's Sons Co.

THIS spring's fashion—first interpretation of the jacket costume—is the combination of one-piece frock and jacket. Less new, but still in good standing, is the three-piece version with a tuck-in blouse.

Spectator sports frocks adopt semi-princess lines, but are extremely simple, both in sheer woolens and silks.

LONG-SLEEVED woolen frocks, with back capes extending from the shoulders to the waistline, are splendid for slim collegians.

A simple sleeveless frock of striped ribbed jersey in three-tone effect exemplifies this year's ideal in sports clothes—being partnered with a matching cardigan jacket and a brimmed felt hat banded in the darkest tone.

Pressed godets are features of many wool crepe frocks for sports this spring.

The costume, which includes a widely pleated skirt, is splendid in tweed for spectator sports and for general wear about town.

THE smart and business-like three-piece knit sport suit pictured is of nub weave jersey in lighter than navy blue, the skirt with inverted box pleats each side front, from a close-fitting hip yoke. The tuck-in blouse is of white jersey, with small cap sleeves, its round neck outlined in three vivid shades—chartreuse, a deeper green, and blue matching the suit.

The two-button coat has two slit pockets, its tuxedo roll collar caught with link buttons, and fitted to the waistline with small tucks. The hat, called "Pinchhurst," is distinctly for outdoor sports wearing, and reflects the blue of the suit. Its brim is pleated at center back, and crown bound in grosgrain ribbon.

WHETHER sweaters would adopt the short sleeved attitude of the mode is a conjecture which some of the newest resort sweaters definitely settle. They do! You can't imagine how different these new sweaters look from those we have recently been wearing. There is one little hand-knitted model which has short puff sleeves and another which has a shoulder yoke extending into a divided cap sleeve like a little epaulet.

* * *

WITH lengthening skirts, necklines, too, are becoming more modest and are circling the throat. On sport frocks and sweaters the neckline frequently buttons up to the hollow of the throat. Narrow little collars, bows and tabbed effects bring about this new neckline. Vestees and gilets of other fabrics are frequent additions to woolen and silk frocks. Lingerie collars button or tie close about the neck.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

WHY MUST MEN BE YOUNG AND BEAUTIFUL?

IN the old days, a man was "as young as he felt"—and let it go at that. While the women were banting, rolling, taking mud-baths, and rushing around frantically from hairdressers to beauty surgeons, man sat at home and grew comfortably fat, bald and middle-aged.

* * *

He considered it unmanly to put pomade on his hair, and refused even to deny himself a baked potato in the interest of his waistline. It never occurred to him that a bald spot and a little embonpoint could mar his facial fascination.

* * *

BUT, now, every other man you meet is on a diet for his figure, and has a recipe or a theory for staying young forever. He seems to think that a man is no younger than his weakest tooth or his faint eye wrinkle, and that when his beauty fades his life will be over.

* * *

A man's beauty was never more than two per cent of his charm, anyway, so why should he get so excited about it?

* * *

It is not ART but HEART, that keeps us young, forever!

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

OLD-TIME hairdressers who know their coiffures say that every seven years there is a change in styles. Not innovations, but radical, hirsute upheavals. We are about due for some kind of coiffure revolution. As conditions are the short bob is good style, but it must be left full and close at the back. The shoulder length, worse is going strong, and offers itself to interesting variations, with sculptured curls, snail curls and now and then a fluttering rigiet. Yet, always is must show restraint. The scramble-ed head hasn't a show, though Paris has tried to put it over for nearly a year.

Various lights and rays are used with excellent results in treatment of acne. Acne thrives best in the oily skin in which the pores are the biggest. That is why young persons suffer from it and old ones don't. In middle life and old age the skin is dry. The sebaceous glands are all tired.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Is the Country Best for Health?

U. S. Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health.

WHICH is the better place for man to live in—the city or the country? What effect has moving from farm, forest and shore had on human life?

Dr. Copeland

There are important questions to civilized people. Where shall we live? What environment is best for the family? What are the social and economic advantages of the city as compared with rural places?

For the most part the economic factor is the one that decides the question of where we are to live.

Portlands are those who work in the city if they dwell in the adjacent suburbs. There the children may have the fresh country air. Thousands take this way of getting "back to the country" commuting to and from suburban places, sometimes long distances away.

The growth of the great cities has been phenomenal during the past 80 years. Back in Saxon times there were scarcely 20,000 persons living in London. Its extraordinary growth did not begin until after 1850.

Forty years ago only 33 per cent of the population of the United States lived in cities. But the move from farm to factory and from village to town has been on the increase. At the present time 55 per cent of the total population are living in cities.

Man lived in cities for centuries before sanitation made them safe. It is only within the past century that the city has come to mean a really safe place to live.

Seventy-five years ago the large cities of Europe and America were dangerous places. The loss of children before the age of five years in babies born died within a year. It was not uncommon for the general death rate of any city to run up to 30 per thousand. Modern municipal sanitation, modern ventilation, splendid water supplies, unpolluted water in abundance, and pure milk, now make city life more and more safe.

It would seem that man had overcome most of the handicaps found in the crowded cities. But the ever-increasing population, changing as it does from month to month, calls for greater ingenuity in devising means to promote public health.

Tuberculosis brings the highest death rate in the great cities. Under the present-day habits of living, a large per cent of people will acquire this disease. The ever-present atmospheric conditions have much to do with it. Ventilation of buildings has been to a considerable extent, but there is still need for improvement in general health conditions, both in city and rural places. Science, the medical profession, public health workers, philanthropy through private channels, are all striving and pointing toward better health conditions everywhere. In rural places, where doctors are few and the population scattered, good clinics and hospitals, with district nursing facilities, are to be found.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEEKMAN

Announcing Graduation

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1—My daughter will graduate this year from high school. Will you kindly tell me whom I should send announcements? I always thought they should only sent to relatives and closest friends, but people here send them to every one they know.

2—Do the announcements call for a present? That is the reason I hesitate to send them to every one because it looks as if they are sent just to receive gifts.

Setuate. MRS B T R.

1—This must be entirely a personal decision, dear friend for you should send announcements to those to whom you really wish to send them. If it is the "custom of the country" to send announcements of this event pretty generally, I see no reason why you should not follow this custom, provided you wish to.

2—No; an announcement does not call for a present, and, therefore, I see no reason why you need be self-conscious about sending announcements to a rather wide list of friends. I find that, in cases of this kind, if the cards are not self-conscious, the receivers will not be.

ANGELO BORDONARO

Here Is My Proposition
I have 5 brand new 7-family houses for sale on Harvard Street and Goldsmith Avenue. To anyone buying any one of these houses on April 19 empty and depositing $200 as the down payment, I will give a present of $100.

In other words, I am actually giving away $500. I believe these houses to be the greatest values in Metropolitan Boston. They are all modern.

CAMBRIDGE—T. J. DALY
1384 Mass. Ave., Harvard Sq., Cambridge. Tel. Porter 2900. Evenings Univ. 5171-R.

All this property is down at the very lowest possible price. It is not for sale, but for "rent. This property will go up in price very soon.

7-family, 6-6 rooms, 2 years old, built to order; rack mortgage $7500, rental only $1000. Better than any house you have ever seen. $11,000.

3-family house, 6 rooms each apt., steam heat, electric lights, all rooms, hot water, tiled baths, set tubs, fine condition, $10,500. This house cost $15,000.

Single dwelling, 8 rooms, 2 garages, right close to Harvard College, big money maker, low renting of rooms or house, only $5000.

3-family house, right close to Harvard, steam heat, sleeping porches, rents $1250 month, price $12,000. This is a real bargain, as owner has to sell and get it before the other fellow.

3-family house, 6 rooms each, separate steam heaters, you will say this is the most attractive house on Porter Sq. bridge, rents $2340 month, 1st mortgage $10,000, price $30,000. Owner has other interests and best bargain you ever saw.

The office has a complete listing of all good property in Cambridge for sale. Save time by coming here first.
